

Only Chance to Avert Opposition Grand Slam

Socreds' Upset Hopes Waning in Oak Bay

By IAN STREET

The rather slim hope of an upset win over the Liberals in Oak Bay appears to be the best prospect for Social Credit to avert a grand slam by the opposition in three provincial by-elections to be held Monday.

Socred candidate Peter Pollen, a strong early runner in the local contest, seems to have lost ground in the past few days. The reason appears to be in the adverse reaction among some residents to what they see as a government attempt to "pressure" them into supporting Social Credit.

Liberal Allan Cox, a former reeve of the municipality, is favored to retain the seat formerly held by Alan Macfarlane for the Liberals. He has run a quiet campaign stressing a voter canvass and personal endorsement letters.

In North Vancouver Caplan's seat, formerly held by Ray Perrault who resigned as provincial leader of the Liberal party and beat T. C. Douglas to win election to the Commons June 25, Liberal

Liberal Cox

It is the Interior riding of Revelstoke-Slocan, formerly held by the NDP, however, where party leaders are spending most of their time during the latter stages of the campaign. Premier Bennett campaigned there Thursday and Friday and NDP leader Robert Strachan has spent the past week in the riding. Liberal leadership aspirant Dr. Patrick McGeer has also spent some time campaigning there although it's strictly a two-way fight between Social Credit and the NDP.

Socred candidate Burton Campbell, a Castlegar newspaperman, who twice before came close to upsetting NDP veteran Randolph Harding in this riding is running against newcomer William King for the New Democrats.

There are indications that Mr. King, despite his political inexperience, should win by a fair margin.

Unless Social Credit can pull off at least one victory Monday, the government will have lost a total of four by-elections this spring and summer. On May 21 it lost the key riding of Vancouver South to the NDP.

All three of the present by-elections are in opposition ridings—Oak Bay and North Vancouver were Liberal, and Revelstoke NDP—and Mr. Bennett has said in the past he would be satisfied to come out of this series with one victory. He would like Revelstoke-Slocan because that would mean revenge for the NDP victory in Vancouver South. But at a pinch, any riding would do.

Mr. Bennett's personal involvement in these by-election campaigns may turn out to be a mixed blessing for the Socreds. He was the main speaker at a rally attended by more than 600 in Oak Bay junior high school. His speech caused little excitement though Mr. Pollen was warmly applauded.

Liberals countered with criticism of what Mr. Cox called "the big green

Trudeau Chides Unions:

Don't Squeeze Lemon—It's Public's

- Postal solution sought Monday. Page 16.
- B.C. welfare cheques mailed early. Page 14.
- Talks resume on seaway dispute. Page 16.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Friday that unions in the public sector are in effect bargaining with the public, especially the poor and unorganized part of the public.

He said at a news conference that some unions say in bargaining with the government: "Squeeze as much as we can from the lemon."

"The juice does not come from my pocket," the prime minister added, "but from the public."

DIFFERENCE

Mr. Trudeau said these remarks were not directed specifically at the striking St. Lawrence Seaway workers or the postal workers, who are threatening to strike.

It was important that the public, including unions, be made to realize the difference between strikes in government service and those in the private sector.

There was a limit to the wage increases private companies could grant. A private company could go broke, but the government never did.

INFLATION GUARD

The government in some cases, however, had to look at the overall economic picture and prevent starting an inflationary trend.

Wage parity with the U.S. by some Canadian unions meant transfer of resources to one particular group.

"Partly begins at home," Mr. Trudeau said.

He added that he hoped he did not sound too reactionary on the subject of unions.

Mr. Trudeau made these points:

● The government's drug bill, designed to lower prices of prescription drugs, will be reintroduced in Parliament.

● A wage increase for the postal workers was "conceivable."

● Parliament could be called into special session as early as July 26 or 27 but such a move was "purely hypothetical" as of now.

● He would go "very far" to enforce the rule of cabinet secrecy and solidarity, but ministers should be encouraged to speak for their own departments.

● He hoped to meet industry and labor in August on government plans for legislation creating a wages and prices review board.

● He planned a 10-day holiday beginning July 22 or 23 if things were "easy." If Parliament had to be reconvened, he would leave on holiday earlier. He might visit some parts of the Canadian North.

● He will attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in January. There were no plans to meet President Johnson soon.

Ottawa Hint Disturbs Nationalists

TAIPEI (Reuters) — China News, an English-language newspaper published in this Nationalist Chinese capital, predicts Canada's Prime Minister Trudeau will recognize the mainland Chinese regime based in Peking.

It says a Canadian delegate to recognize Peking would not be the end of the world but "still Canadian recognition is a Free-Chinese reverse that should be prevented if that is humanly possible."

No Jobs Lost

Federal Shuffle Outlined

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau announced Friday a wholesale shuffle of federal agencies among government departments.

The move was part of a previously disclosed plan to create five new departments, each headed by a cabinet minister, and rebuild others.

Trudeau told a news conference that "task forces" will be established to implement the changes, which could be followed by others as time goes on.

CABINET ORDER

The reorganization was ordered under the Public Service Rearrangement and Transfer of Duties Act through orders-in-council issued by the cabinet. New legislation will be required for formal changes in the names of new departments.

New departments: communications; regional development; industry, trade and commerce.

Barnett Loses Recount

Winner Durante

Grits Capture Comox-Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Liberal Richard Durante has won the Comox-Alberni seat by nine votes over Tom Barnett, NDP, who has represented the riding for a total of 11 years.

It is the first time a Liberal has ever represented the constituency. Mr. Durante gained 11,939, Mr. Barnett 11,930.

The surprise result followed a judicial recount by County Court Judge Harry McKay of Nanaimo. The unofficial count after the June 25 election put Mr. Barnett 53 votes ahead of his Liberal rival. When the official count was held recently his margin was reduced to three.

The recount started Thursday and the result was announced at about 9:30 p.m. Friday. Mr. Barnett immediately conceded defeat.

Mr. Barnett, 58, said he personally was disappointed, but was more disappointed that the NDP had lost a seat. He said the recount had been conducted impeccably by Judge McKay.

There were a number of spoiled ballots, but the figure was not immediately available.

LIBERALS HAVE 155

The recount result gives the Liberals 155 seats in the Commons, and cuts the NDP strength to 22. The Conservatives have 72, Creditistes, 14, and the non-partisan Speaker.

Judge McKay arranged the recount so that an NDP representative counted and checked the Liberal votes and a Liberal did the same to the NDP votes.

A Liberal and an NDP representative checked the votes of the other candidates who were not present.

Newly-elected member for Nanaimo riding Colin Cameron, NDP, was present as an official representative for Mr. Barnett.

They both stayed for the whole of the recount.

BEFORE BALLOTTING

Mr. Barnett said he felt that those involved in the recount felt the section of the act specifying a lead pencil should be written before the ballot point.

Mr. Durante is on holiday in Vancouver and could not be reached after the recount.

His campaign manager, Ron Hess, who said earlier it would be a very close fight, commented: "It has been a long hard climb but I am very happy we made it to the top."

FIRST ELECTED IN '53

Mr. Barnett was first elected in 1953. He was defeated by H. C. McQuillan, Conservative, in 1958, but was returned to the House in 1962 and 1965. In 1965 he had a plurality of 6,336 over four opponents.

From 1921 to 1953 the seat was held by Independents, A. W. Neill being the longest serving.

Youth Unruly Fourth Night

TORONTO (UPI) — At least six persons were arrested Friday night as crowds estimated at more than 5,000 jammed Yorkville Avenue, the black-long centre of Toronto's Bohemia, in a fourth night of confrontation between youths and police.

Plane Hijacker Told 'Wrong Thing to Do'

MIAMI (UPI) — A sobbing, babbling hijacker pulled a gun on Sen. James Eastland of Mississippi Friday night in an attempt to force a Delta jetliner to Havana, but a steel-nerved flight engineer convinced him it was "the wrong thing to do."

Delta flight 977, with 48

passengers and a crew of six, landed at Miami International Airport after a two-hour drama in the skies.

Sniping Suspect Surrenders

BURLINGTON, N.C. (CP) — A man identified by police as the gunman who shot three men to death on a street in New York City's Bronx area Thursday night, surrendered to a sheriff's deputy here Friday.

Sheriff John Stockard said Robert L. Rogers, alias Robert Fugh, was unarmed and accompanied by his brother.

Rogers had been the subject of a manhunt since a hail of bullets from a 30-calibre automatic carbine killed three men and left a bystander slightly wounded.

Stockard said the 23-year-old Negro had reached Burlington by bus. His mother and brother both live here.

IWA Aftermath

Dissidents Map Dump-Moore Bid

- Rebel strikers back at work. Page 33.

By DON COLLINS

There is a move underway to dump forest union boss Jack Moore.

Less than 48 hours after he cast the deciding vote for a tentative settlement affecting 25,000 to 30,000 workers, there was talk of finding a "good replacement."

The plan is to pit someone against him when the International Woodworkers of America regional conference is held at Vancouver in September.

Mr. Moore has been the IWA's regional president in B.C. for six years.

Two of the more powerful IWA officers in the province have been mentioned as possible contenders when it comes time for nominations.

Only one, Weldon Jubenville of Lake Cowichan, has admitted that he might have his eye on the job.

Mr. Jubenville, who heads the 4,000-member IWA local at Duncan, said Friday night: "I'll put it this way — if Thompson doesn't stand, maybe I will."

The reference was to Syd Thompson, president of the largest IWA local in B.C. — the 7,000 strong Vancouver local.

Mr. Thompson would not say whether he wanted the top job personally, but declared: "There is one thing for certain — Jack Moore has got to go. He'll be opposed."

He said he expected some qualified union officer would stand for election.

Mr. Jubenville and Mr. Thompson, members of the IWA negotiating committee, were among those expressing bitter disagreement with the settlement.

The package which will be voted on by the forest workers before the end of the month offers 36 cents an hour over two years on top of a basic rate of $2.76. But it lacks the vacation improvements the union had sought.

Targets for the resentment of those who dissented have been Mr. Moore and Victoria local president Murray Drew, who passed the motion to accept the offer.

Mr. Jubenville said Mr. Drew violated the union constitution by threatening to sign a separate agreement for his local if the others didn't accept.

Mr. Drew said in Victoria Friday night that members of his 1,500-man local appeared happy with the settlement.

The Victoria local will vote on the agreement at the curling rink Sunday. Other locals will vote later, most of them on the job sites.

Show Gives Youth Chance at Profit

PRICE CUTTING: The producers of the next attraction planned for the McPherson Playhouse have come up with a new angle for selling tickets.

Producer Robert Price is organizing a mass meeting of young people to be held in Centennial square at 1 p.m. Monday. The idea is the Price company will issue tickets to anyone who wants to sell them. The tickets cost $2.50 and the students keep 50 cents for each sale.

The play is Luv by Murray Schisgal and it stars Lynne Sorensen, Owen Funn and Gregory Reid. Director is Harry Hill.

The run is something interesting in that it is for an indefinite period. It starts July 25 and just goes on until it stops.

Publisher Tim Devlin is busy beating the bushes for backstage help to provide support for the company during the fall season.

IN TROUBLE: The newspaper that served students in Greater Victoria is in danger of folding for good after only four issues.

Publisher Allard van Veen has written school board chairman Peter Bunn saying "Since the school board's decision last year to prohibit the distribution of Victoria's youth magazine, Mosaic, in Greater Victoria schools, the start of Mosaic has produced three more publications."

"Now that the Mosaic has proven itself to be a paper of good standing and high quality we feel the time has come that Mosaic be distributed in the open and not "underground" as we are forced to do."

The problems facing the paper are simply lack of advertising and the need for better distribution.

Mr. van Veen says the issue published at the end of the school year went to 7,500 students but the advertisers are staying away in droves.

There were three four-page issues and one eight-page paper. Mr. van Veen says the paper must be a minimum of eight pages if it is to survive, and it must have ads.

The young publishers say "The advertisers just don't seem to give a damn about youth or our paper."

The big test will come with the next issue planned for September. The paper will be eight pages and it is hoped it will go to 10,500 students.

Perhaps with a little help from Peter Bunn it will survive.

MOVING WEST: Inhabitants of the wicked east like to brag about the Toronto Dominion office building in Toronto.

Steak House manager for Mr. Bill McAdams, reports a new building for Edmonton that will have 1,000,000 square feet in a twin tower complex. This should cause a bit of a stir in Hg. Town.

BEHIND THE PLANTS: While guests mill about the Empress and invade the conservatory the staff are busy behind the paneled walling worrying about Christmas.

With the renovations well along there will be 200 rooms available for the festivities. Manager Les Parkinson reports he already has a booking for a party of 20 from Honolulu.

BACK AT IT: Some time ago I had a sort of improve-the hamburger campaign. One tourist has called to ask why the quality of the tea served here is no better than that served in the United States.

For my part I can't think why. Usually when a customer asks for tea he gets what looks like a parachute that has come down in the sea, floating in a steel pot that invariably spills out from the spout or into the saucer. I suggested they just write it off to the march of civilization.

Trudeau Outlines Federal Agency Shuffle supply and services; fisheries and forestry.

Trudeau said he does not expect to fire government employees whose jobs become redundant in the shuffle. The surplus would be taken up by employees regularly retiring from the service, combined with the slowdown in recruiting under the present civil service freeze.

TO ANNOUNCE DUTIES

Next week, he would announce changes in responsibilities of senior civil servants in line with the restructuring. He had not yet decided on promised assignments for the three ministers without portfolios in his new cabinet.

The new regional development department will gather together all the agencies dealing with development programs and take over most of the activities of the present forestry and rural development department.

The forestry branch will be transferred to the new fisheries and forestry department. The rural development branch, which administers the Agricultural and Rural Development Act and the Fund for Rural Economic Development, will stay with the regional development department.

The new fisheries and forestry department will take over the not directly concerned with efficiency and safety of transport.

The prime minister gave the Glassco royal commission on government organization credit for the new department of supply and services.

The supply section of the department will absorb the defence production department, except the international programs branch. It will also take over the public printing and stationery department and the Queen's Printer, which now reports to the state secretary, and the shipbuilding branch of the transport department.

The services section of the new department will bring together the office of the comptroller of the treasury, the central data processing bureau and the bureau of management consulting services.

The prime minister said the government plays a major research role in both fisheries and forestry. Combining them into one department would broaden the scope of both industries and improve Canada's competitive position in world markets.

Trudeau also commented on the consumer and corporate affairs department, which was set up at the last session of Parliament.

The department will take over the standards branch from the trade and commerce department and the retail inspection services from the fisheries and agriculture departments. It will assume responsibility for economic frauds in foods.

Girl, 17, Fears Alcoholism

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 17-year-old girl and wondering if I could be an alcoholic. If I don't have that first drink, I'm fine, but if I do, I can't control my drinking and just keep on until I'm drunk. I have quit drinking because it got me in so much trouble. Is alcoholism possible at my age?—J.S.

Yes, it's possible at that age, although not common. Of course, you shouldn't be drinking at 17 anyway, but that's beside the point.

This is the point: you are smart enough to have recognized your problem. Many such as thousands of members of Alcoholics Anonymous — waste years and ruin families before learning the one fact that will help them: some people just cannot take that first drink without having another and another and another.

Dear Dr. Molner: My father, 58, has nephritis and the symptoms that accompany serious kidney disease. Our family doctor has told us that his kidneys will just keep deteriorating until he dies.

Recently, I read an article on artificial kidneys, which said the "kidney" could be operated at home and the patient would hook himself to it by means of tubes. Our doctor made no mention of this. Are the artificial kidneys readily available?—L.B.

The "artificial kidney" is relatively new, as revolutionary medical devices go. Until quite recently, only large hospitals or research centres could afford one of the machines, costly to operate as well as to buy.

Still more recently, great efforts have been made to reduce the cost of the machines and find simpler ways to operate them, and only in the last couple of months or so a vast United States government project is being organized to provide such care on a large scale than ever before possible.

The "artificial kidneys" do not cure badly damaged kidneys, but rather they take over the work of the kidneys. Blood flows from one blood vessel, through the machine, which filters out accumulated wastes, and then back into the patient's veins.

Your doctor might inquire whether there is any possibility of such help yet in your area, but, regrettably, I must warn you that we are still in the early stages of such development, and we do not even know how much to expect on a long-term basis. The devices are complex and the program is very expensive.

Thant

UN Chief Menaced In Dublin

DUBLIN (UPI) — Irish authorities placed UN Secretary General U Thant under heavy police guard Friday when his life was threatened in a welter of bad feeling here and in Belfast, capital of Northern Ireland.

Squads of plain clothes detectives joined regular police forces in protecting Thant when he received an honorary degree from Trinity College and in a speech appealed for "peace, security and justice" throughout the world.

NEWSPAPER TOLD Police said an anonymous caller had telephoned a newspaper here and announced "U Thant will be shot in Dublin."

Thant's appearance at Trinity College went off without a hitch, but police stayed with him because of the threat of student demonstrations to protest what leftist groups said was his support of the subjugation of Ireland by England.

NATIONALIST HEAD The threats against Thant coincided with similar threats against Eddie McAteer, the Irish nationalist leader, and the annual Orange Day parades in Belfast which traditionally inflame ancient hatreds between Northern Ireland's protestants and its Catholic minority.

'Pueblo' For Ransom

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Stephen M. Young predicted Friday that North Korea will release the U.S. intelligence ship Pueblo and its crew next month in return for a U.S. apology and large cash payment. The state department disputed the forecast.

Young, an Ohio Democrat and a member of the armed services committee, said in a statement: "The ship and crew will be released. The incident will be closed."

SOURCE SECRET He declined to give the source of his information but said settlement will include admission that the U.S. Navy ship penetrated North Korean waters, an apology for the intrusion and payment of an indemnity of $100,000,000 or more.

The Pueblo and its crew of 83 were seized off North Korea Jan. 23, one of the crew later dying of injuries.

NO PROGRESS Since then 19 sessions between U.S. and North Korean representatives at Panmunjom have produced no publicly announced progress towards release of the ship and crew.

State department press officer Robert J. McCloskey told reporters: "We just don't know where Senator Young came by or obtained such information."

Whatever the reason, Ottawa had clearly intimated that no man would be drafted into another branch of service except as a volunteer. Apparently this small concession to military pride is also being abandoned.

U.K. I also felt that it was indeed a prompt and typical gesture of the premier in coming forth in an effort to help the boys. I am quite sure that he would have made this gesture on behalf of any team from B.C. whether it be Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Saanich, Prince

Spanish Heir Soon

MADRID (AP) — A decree published here Friday renewed speculation that Gen. Francisco Franco is about to name an heir to the vacant Spanish throne.

The decree, setting out the etiquette for state ceremonies, places the heir to the crown second to the chief of state or his representative.

The first ceremony to which it would apply will come when Franco inaugurates a series of sanitary projects Monday.

"If a prince appears second to Franco in the protocol it will be obvious such a prince—in line with the decree—is the heir to fill the Spanish throne," said one political analyst.

Most frequently mentioned as Franco's choice is Prince Juan Carlos de Bourbon. The grandson of the last Spanish King, Alfonso XIII, he is married to Princess Sophie of Greece.

In line with the succession law of July, 1947, Franco has the right to propose to the Cortes (Parliament) the person he considers one day must be called in to replace him. Only if he dies without naming a successor would it be up to the Cortes to decide.

Here Comes Hanoi's Big Pitch

Strike Three for Saigon?

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — The looming third battle for Saigon may well be the largest and most destructive of the Vietnam war, intelligence sources believe.

The communist command has massed elements of four divisions plus numerous independent battalions and regiments including artillery units around South Vietnam's capital.

Documents and prisoner interrogation indicate the communists believe a victory here would put overwhelming pressure on the United States at the Paris peace talks, paralyze the Saigon government and destroy support for the non-communist cause.

PROSPECTS

More than two divisions of American and Vietnamese troops have been assigned to protect the city and suburbs. Six more U.S. and Vietnamese divisions are deployed farther afield around the city and there are reports of major reinforcements on the way.

But there is little hope that all the communist battalions could be kept out of the city. One U.S. estimate was that it would require nine divisions dug in around the city to seal it off. That many troops are not available unless the countryside is to be stripped.

At present it appears that the major threat is to the west of Saigon where there are perhaps 17,000 communist troops.

The figure for Saigon troops are considered among the least effective in the country. Southern allied troops have been largely unsuccessful in tracking down the enemy units as they move into position, although weapons caches have been found.

More than 300 B-52 bomber raids have been made to try to break up enemy forces, but U.S. sources say many of the strikes are a day behind the actual positions of enemy troops—possibly because of security leaks.

The first attack on Saigon came in late January, during the lunar new year holiday, when there was supposed to be a ceasefire. This put some 4,000 enemy troops in the city and they were able to claim a psychological and propaganda victory.

The second wave was met on the fringe of Saigon May 5. Surprisingly Saigon's mood is far from one of crisis. There is no sign of panic buying. Work on home bunkers and sandbagging, begun at the height of rocket attacks, has all but halted.

Army, Police Placed on Alert

SAIGON (Reuters) — A special alert army and police was called Friday in this South Vietnamese capital after reports of a Viet Cong plan to attack or sabotage key buildings, including the American Embassy and the Presidential Palace.

Road blocks here erected after intelligence reports claimed 100 Viet Cong slipped secretly into the city.

The guerrillas split into three groups in readiness for commando raids and may use mortars and rockets to disrupt government services, high-level police sources said.

An American soldier was shot and seriously wounded in a Saigon street by a Vietnamese youth described by police as a Viet Cong terrorist.

Ten alleged leaders of a clandestine group claiming to support the Viet Cong but to be separate from it were put on trial in their absence by a military court. They were sentenced to death for treason and advocating neutralism. The court also ordered that their property be confiscated.

They were executive members of the Vietnam Alliance of Nationalist, Democratic and Peaceful Forces and included Trinh Dinh Thao, a lawyer.

None was represented by counsel at the short hearing. In the ground war, a U.S. military spokesman reported Friday that U.S. marines killed 33 North Vietnamese soldiers near the so-called demilitarized zone.

Sacred Upset Hopes Waning machine" employed by the Sacred. Mr. Pollen's opponents also made much of his campaign using pamphlets, a tabloid newspaper, and numbers of door knockers and telephone canvassers.

One Liberal campaign worker said Friday: "The government has failed totally to understand the attitude of Oak Bay. They're killing Peter Pollen the same way they did Charlie Ernals in two past elections — by over-advertising."

The Liberals report a good response to their canvassing on behalf of Mr. Cox. Party officials said in the final stages of the campaign they are confident but determined to leave nothing to chance and therefore are making every effort to get voters out to the polls Monday.

Returning officer Kenneth Murphy was at the advance poll in Oak Bay municipal hall Friday when he was accosted by a woman voter who complained about the mass of advertising material from candidates. "It's a waste of money," she said. "I just read the first and tossed the rest away. They come to the door and telephone — tormenting us morning, night and noon."

Other residents have voiced similar complaints and a few Sacred telephone canvassers were reporting to party headquarters Friday that they were receiving a hostile reception in some homes. They were told to stop phoning.

"We probably have had some over-zealous door knockers," Mr. Pollen said. "But we've only sent out three pieces of literature. People seem to be very receptive to our canvass. I've been myself to more than 700 homes and generally speaking not more than 10 of them were belligerent."

"One little old lady in a rose garden refused to even speak to me. That's one that sticks in my mind."

Former Conservative MP George Chatterton, upset in the June 25 federal election in Esquimalt-Saanich, was also a speaker at the Peter Pollen rally. In the past week he has knocked on many doors in Oak Bay canvassing on behalf of Social Credit.

From the time the Oak Bay riding was created in the 1941 general election until 1952 when Social Credit came to power, it was held by Conservative Herbert Anscomb. Since 1952 it has always been Liberal, being held by former reeve Archie Gibbs until his death in 1960 and since then by Mr. Macfarlane who resigned to accept an appointment as a Supreme Court judge.

No one can estimate how many former Conservative voters may have been attracted to Mr. Pollen though Mr. Chatterton's support and the endorsement of Victoria Conservative Association directors will carry some weight.

Similarly, it is expected that Mr. Cox will pick up some NDP votes, from people who don't want to see a Sacred victory, but the party — which isn't strong in Oak Bay — has its own candidate in Mrs. Mira Yarwood, a legal secretary. She is running only a token campaign.

Mr. Pollen has campaigned on a platform which calls for wider involvement by the people in government, support for Bill 33, and stronger anti-pollution measures. He describes himself as "somewhat of an idealist" and claims that development of a right-wing conservative force in the community is essential to further development.

Mr. Cox, who gained wide experience in regional affairs during his nine years on Oak Bay council, the last four as reeve, is prepared to give the government its due for doing a good job of developing the economy.

"What must be fought for, however, is a system of priorities so that it can be decided at all levels of government what must come first and how these things — new schools, hospitals, anti-pollution measures — can be financed," he said.

In North Vancouver the premier drew criticism when he announced, at a Sacred rally last Monday night, that the government was prepared to make an outright $50,000,000 grant towards the cost of a new Burrard Inlet tunnel crossing provided the federal government matched it, and the structure was toll free. Initial reaction from Ottawa was negative.

North Shore Liberals, recalling the premier had made similar promises in three previous election campaigns in the past five years, were elated. MLA Barrie Clark said later "We're celebrating the fact that the premier has just handed us Monday's byelection on a platter."

The results of canvassing in North Vancouver Capilano seem to indicate this confidence is justified. The Liberal candidate is David Brunsen, 48, an electrical engineer who runs his own heating supply and air conditioning firm which employs 60 people and has a branch in Victoria. His main opponent is another engineer, Sacred Peter Robinson who claims to have the answer to air and water pollution problems in B.C.

Other candidates running there, all rated only as outside chances, are Conservative Charles Maclean, New Democrat Sidney Simons and James Benyon, Communist.

In Revelstoke-Slocan there are three candidates, Mr. King for the NDP, Mr. Campbell for the Sacreds, and Liberal Fred Deschamps.

Mr. King, a 35-year-old locomotive fireman from Revelstoke, is backed by the team of strategists headed by Michael Lewis, 23-year-old son of NDP deputy national leader David Lewis, which engineered the victory over Social Credit in Vancouver South. He also has the active help of Randolph Harding, newly elected MP for Kootenay West, who was MLA for the riding for 23 years until he resigned last May to run federally.

Mr. Campbell, 31, came within 138 votes of Mr. Harding in the 1966 provincial election, but party officials will only say this time its going to be another close fight which could go either way.

More Tension Grips Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (LAT)—In an atmosphere of increasing tension, President Artur da Costa e Silva met for two hours Thursday with Brazil's national security council.

There had been widespread speculation that the president would yield to rightist pressures and declare a nationwide state of siege. But three hours after the session ended, a spokesman said no decisions had been taken.

Invitations Extended

Czechs Abruptly Change Attitude

PRAGUE (UPI) — Czechoslovakian leaders Friday invited their communist neighbors to visit Prague individually to discuss plans for a Soviet-proposed Red summit on Kremlin complaints and fears about the Czech democratization reforms.

A communiqué by the Czech Communist Party central committee presidium represented an abrupt about-face in official Prague attitude toward the Soviet proposal for a summit on Czechoslovakian reforms.

In Moscow, the Red Army Friday denied it was trying to exert military pressure on Czechoslovakia. But it failed to confirm that Russian troops would be withdrawn from the country.

The official Soviet Army newspaper Red Star blamed "western propaganda" with trying to prevent the Warsaw Treaty military maneuvers in Czechoslovakia as an attempt by the Soviet Union to "impose its strategic concepts on its allies."

Another newspaper, the Sovetskaya Rossiya, accused western radio stations of "broadcasting various rumors to Czechoslovakia to cause panic."

Enjoy the permanent beauty of a concrete driveway.

A concrete driveway is built to last... and last... and last. And to look good, year after year. Edges stay neat and trim. Surfaces don't rut, pit or pothole from gasoline, motor oil or constant vehicle traffic. It's easy to keep clean. Concrete offers you an infinite variety of surface textures, colours and patterns, with non-slip safety built right in. Concrete can be blended with different materials to create distinctive designs that enhance both house and landscape. And its light reflective qualities add to night driving safety, too. It costs a little more to install, but over the years it is the most economical driveway you can own. Insist on a concrete driveway for your home... you'll never have to replace it. Contact your Ocean Cement representative today.

Russian Writers Defect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Russian writer and his wife apparently have defected to the United States.

The state department said they arrived in this country June 27 and want to remain permanently.

Department press officer Robert McCloskey declined to say whether the couple — Arkady Belinkov and his wife Natalya — were seeking "political asylum" but told reporters: "You should assume that their wishes are to remain in the United States."

McCloskey said they were granted visitor visas by the U.S. consul general in Munich shortly before coming to the United States. McCloskey said their request for permanent residence was under consideration.

Farm Loans Needed Now

REGINA (CP) — Agriculture ministers of nine provinces have suggested that the Federal Farm Improvement Loans Act be "reactivated and made operative immediately." They said farmers are short of cash and existing credit facilities are unsatisfactory.

South African Transplant Symposium

Surgeons Place Faith in Globulin

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI) — Surgeons arriving for an international symposium on heart transplants said Friday they would continue carrying out the controversial operations to save lives.

Dr. Denton Cooley of Houston,

Tex., added that the operations would get under way with the use of an anti-rejection drug used this weekend to save the world's longest-surviving heart transplant patient, retired dentist Philip Blaiberg.

He said he thought any organ of the body except the brain could eventually be transplanted.

Cooley said: "So long as there is a need to save lives I think we are justified to go ahead and use cardiac transplantation as a therapeutic measure as well as an investigative effort."

Brazilian surgeon Justino de Jesus Zerbini and Canadian surgeon Pierre Grollin agreed.

"There is a need for it and the fact that surgeons have performed this operation all over the world proves it is feasible and that we can expect prolonged survival," Grollin said. "In medicine you know that wherever there is a need you will find some way of improving the results."

I think my experience with anti-lymphocytic globulin and techniques in doing transplants indicates there is a much wider margin of safety than we previously anticipated," Cooley said.

South African heart transplant pioneer Prof. Christiaan

Barnard greeted Cooley, Grollin, Zerbini and other surgeons from Britain, Argentina, India and Chile as they arrived for the symposium.

MONTREAL (CP)—The Montreal Heart Institute said in a bulletin Friday that Canada's second heart transplant patient, Gaetan Paris, ran into his first bit of trouble but a 120-volt shock treatment brought him back to normal.

Hospital officials said Mr. Paris had developed what is known as an "arterial flutter"—a sudden increase in the patient's heart rate, early Friday morning.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

After the decision handed down Wednesday by Tom English, commissioner of the Western Division, one has to believe there hasn't been as much change in West Coast lacrosse as becoming part of the National Lacrosse Association should have brought. It appears that the Mainland group which so long dictated the policies of the Inter-City league is still very much in the saddle.

That Victoria Shamrocks and New Westminster Salmonbellies had two points taken away from them when English reversed a decision made a month ago was disappointing because it made English a disappointment.

A former player, English had been looking like about the best thing that had happened to lacrosse for some time in his role as Western Division commissioner. He had, apparently, taken charge and seemed prepared to rule with a purposeful hand. That he would make some mistakes in his dedication was to be expected but his ruling which will result in four-point replays of the victories he had taken away from Portland Adanacs for using two ineligible players was not a mistake as much as a sign of weakness.

Taking two victories away from the Adanacs might seem to some as unduly harsh punishment but it is normally what happens in a professional sport when a team deliberately flouts league rules, as the Adanacs did when they decided to play Jack Birinda and Tom McVie without first signing them to stipulated league contracts. And, at last reports, the NLA was still insisting it is a professional league.

It was stiff punishment, but it was in keeping with the crime. Adanacs were fully aware that league rules stipulated that clubs could not use players who hadn't been signed to NLA contracts, but they went ahead and played Birinda and McVie, making it unnecessary for them at that time to remove any player from their protected list. English made the right ruling the first time, and if he had made it stick, it would have been proof that the NLA intended to operate as the professional organization it claims it is.

Instead, the Western Division now looks like the old Inter-City league with control not in the hands of the commissioner but with the three Mainland clubs—that includes the Adanacs, who are really Portland in name only because they commute from the Vancouver area for their games.

English, understandably, seemed quite embarrassed when he passed out the hand-written statement which informed that he had reversed his previous ruling and was ordering that the games not count in the league tables and that they would be made up by having Adanacs play four-point games against Shamrocks and Salmonbellies. It was obvious that he had given in to pressure, not from the Eastern Division but from within his own division.

English, who maintained without convincing that the decision was solely his, stated he had discussed the forfeiture with President Terry Kelly and vice-president Science Lyne of the NLA after receipt of the Portland protest and said that "it was agreed that the forfeiture was too stiff a penalty under the circumstances."

It was a weak explanation inasmuch as the circumstances were that Adanacs had deliberately flouted a rule they knew existed.

Weak also was the statement that the NLA was standardizing the penalty for clubs using unsigned players by ordering games replayed.

To repeat, the standard rule in most professional sports for deliberate use of unsigned players is forfeiture. At its most lenient, the penalty is a replay.

A replay might well have been accepted without complaint from any of the three teams involved had that been the first ruling, but it would have had to be a bona fide replay and not, if you'll pardon the usage, a bush four-pointer which allows individual performances in an illegal game to go into the league record books—even those of the ineligible players.

It was a most unfortunate reversal. The first ruling made by English was a no-nonsense ruling which would have established early that the NLA meant what it said and was prepared to be a no-nonsense league from the start. It was a stern reprimand, but not at all out of order and in keeping with the new image the NLA has set out to paint for lacrosse.

That will be a long job. The canvas is a huge one and it needs skilled, biddly-stroking brushmen. It's a pity that it was smudged even before the background was filled in with a first season. The damage may not be irreparable but there is no reversal will never get the picture to the framing stage. As matters stand, Adanacs could get off scot free for snapping a rule for their benefit in a league game. But English made it stick when he fined Shamrocks $500 for failing to floor the required number of players for an exhibition game on a night when work commitments made it all but impossible for many of the Shamrocks to get away. The Shamrocks were appalled but they accepted it as a sign that things were going to be different. How wrong they were.

Stockton Takes Lead In Milwaukee Open

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Dave Stockton, who won the Cleveland Open two weeks ago, parlayed a hot putter into a five-under-par 67 Friday to grab the second-round lead in the $50,000 Greater Milwaukee open golf tournament.

The 36-year-old pro charged past young Dave Marad, who fell apart on the last two holes, with a two over par on the 17th and a one over on the 18th.

Hot, windless weather produced another rash of sub-par rounds as 51 golfers broke par on the 115-yard, par-3 North Shore Country Club course.

Stockton's 68-67—135 gave him a two-stroke lead over veteran Sam Snead, who shot a course-record 65. Jim Wiechers and first-round co-leader Mac McLendon.

Bunched with Marad at 135 were Dick Lutz, Master's champion Bob Gaherty, and Al Geisberger, who turned in his second straight 69.

LED UNTIL 17TH HOLE
Marad had gone nine under par after 29 holes, with birdies on the 10th and 11th, and held the lead until the par-three, 170-yard 17th.

Snead, 56, was the hottest man on the course with his 33-32—65.

"It was my best round this year," he said of his seven birdies and 11 pars.

Snead's round surpassed the pair of 66 posted by first-round leaders McLendon and Rocky Thompson.

Thompson slipped to a 73 Friday and wound up grouped at 139 with veteran Tommy Bolt, Ron Cerrudo and Jim Colbert.

Julius Burs, Tom Weiskopf and U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino, all made the cut, set at 145.

Molsons moved into second place in the Victoria Senior Men's Open Football League Friday by defeating Carlings, 7-6, at Central Park while Nanaimo O'Keees continued to roll along at the top of the league with an 8-2 win over Tally-Ho, at Nanaimo.

Home runs by Art Banks and Doug Boden weren't enough help for Carlings as Molsons bunched seven runs in two innings and held on for the win.

Rocks Face Stiffer Drills Unless They Run Tonight

Victoria Shamrocks face a change in practice policy if they don't come up with a good game against the Western Division leaders, Vancouver Carlings, in tonight's National Lacrosse Association game at Memorial Arena at 8:30 p.m.

"We'll try to take a lesson from the Eastern teams," coach Dave Curran said. "With the 30-second shooting rule, a team has to be able to run."

Curran plans to use a few of the faster juniors against Vancouver tonight to help out the veterans who may well have a much stiffer workout come Monday's practice.

"We've got to be in shape before our roadtrip to the east in two week's time," he said.

Gibson, McLain Post Wins Again

Ace pitchers Bob Gibson of St. Louis Cardinals and Denny McLain of Detroit Tigers, two huge reasons why their clubs are leading by nine and a half games in the National and American Baseball Leagues, respectively, turned in fine performances once more on Friday.

Gibson, who won more games for his club each succeeding year after becoming a regular in 1961 until a broken leg sidelined him for much of the 1967 season, won his ninth in a row with an 8-1 decision over Houston Astros.

BROKE LATEST STREAK

The run was only the second Gibson has yielded in 71 innings and ended his current streak at 23. He lost a bid to tie on break Don Drysdale's shut-out and scoreless innings record on July 2 when he yielded a run with a wild pitch after 47 innings.

Now 12-5 for the season, Gibson who gave up just three hits was given plenty of support as the Cardinals banged out 15 hits, including six in the five-run eighth inning.

Gibson posted a 13-12 record in 1961 and followed up with records of 15-13, 18-9, 19-12, 20-12 and 21-17 before last season's 13-7 performance.

VICTORY NO. 17

McLain, the winningest pitcher in the major leagues to date this season, won his 17th game in 19 decision. Noting the distance for the 15th time to defeat Minnesota Twins, 5-1, also on a three-hitter.

The right-hander who was obtained on first-year waivers from Chicago White Sox in 1963, is closing in on his second 20-win season in his four years as a regular with the Tigers.

He posted a 16-6 record in 1965, won 20 and lost 14 in 1966 before slipping to 17-16 last season.

McLain lost his shutout bid in the seventh inning on an error to Don Wert, who hit a two-run homer in the sixth inning.

RUNNERS-UP WIN

Both runners-up, Atlanta Braves in the National League and Baltimore Orioles in the American, won their games.

Rookie Jim Britton, forced into the rotation when Milt Pappas came down with the flu, pitched a five-hit shutout as the Braves downed Los Angeles Dodgers, 7-0.

Frank Robinson slid in head first with the winning run in the bottom of the eighth inning to give the Orioles a 3-2 victory over Washington Senators. Baltimore has won all 11 games against Washington this season.

INDIANS KEEP PACE

Cleveland Indians, just a few percentage points behind Baltimore, kept pace with a 6-3 victory over Oakland Athletics as Sam McDowell tied a modern major league record by striking out the first five batters to face him.

He was one short of the three-game record of 41 strikeouts when he was relieved by Vincent Romo with two out in the ninth inning.

Stanky Resigns Lopez Recalled

CHICAGO (AP) — Eddie Stanky stepped down as manager of Chicago White Sox and will be replaced by Al Lopez, the man whom Stanky succeeded more than two years ago.

The sudden switch was announced by Arthur Allyn, owner of the White Sox, after Allyn and Stanky had consulted for more than two hours.

NO PRESS CONFERENCE

Without even calling the usual press conference, a White Sox spokesman phoned various news media with the announcement that Stanky had resigned and that Lopez will take over the team through the 1969 season.

Coach Les Moss is to pilot the club until Sunday when Lopez is expected to arrive and take command.

"Eddie and I met for two hours and he resigned in the best interests of the team," said Allyn.

Stanky, 50, took over the White Sox at the start of the 1966 season after Lopez had "retired" as a manager and had moved up as vice president of the organization.

Stanky's previous managerial stint was with the St. Louis Cardinals, a tenure which ended in May, 1955, while he was serving his fourth season.

During the 1966 season, Stanky's first with the Sox, it was obvious "The Brat" didn't get along with the coaches he inherited from Lopez.

The start of the 1967 season saw a new coaching staff and midway in the campaign, Stanky's original three-year pact was torn up and he was given a new contract to run through 1971.

Cowdrey Achieves Cricket Milestone

BIRMINGHAM, England — England's captain Colin Cowdrey celebrated his 100th cricket test Friday with an undefeated 95 on the second day of the five-day match against Australia. Rain cancelled play on the first day.

Cowdrey became the second man in test history to pass 7,000 runs as he helped England to 258 for three at the close of play. He passed Sir Len Hutton, 6,971 runs, and Sir Donald Bradman, 6,996, on the way to his 7,000th run. Walter Hammond holds the record with 7,249 runs.

Other close-of-play scores:

Yorkshire 278 and 126 for three declared; Kent 133 for nine declared and 88 for four.

Surrey 90 and 73, Lancashire 86 and 74 for eight.

Essex 230 and 141, Warwick 300 and second day 80 for three.

Manchester 125 and 140 for seven declared; Surrey 300 for six declared and 288 for five.

Essex 231 for nine declared and 130 for three declared; Northamptonshire 128 for seven declared and second day 181 for nine.

Charles and Player Fire 71s To Trim Casper's Golf Lead

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland — Billy Casper stumbled to a two-over-par 74 for 214 Friday in the British open golf championship and had his lead trimmed to one stroke by New Zealander Bob Charles who carded a 71.

Forty-five players including Canada's Al Balding qualified for today's final round by finishing the third day of play with scores of 228 or better.

Par on the 7,250-yard Carnoustie course is 72 and Casper and Charles are the only two in the field remaining under after three days of play.

Casper started the day four strokes ahead of Charles and two young British pros, Brian Barnes and Tony Jacklin.

Charles, the left-hander who won the Canadian Open last month, applied the pressure early, knocking in birdies on the third and fifth holes. He kept his game under control on the back nine, where a stiff North Sea wind took its toll on others.

but missed a nine-foot putt on the final hole which would have given him a share of first place.

Gary Player fired his second straight 71 after an opening 74 and is in third place with 215, two strokes ahead of Jack Nicklaus who needed 73 strokes Friday.

Jacklin slipped to 75 and a share of fifth place with Gary Brewer who had a 72 for 219 while Barnes skied to 80 for 224 where he is tied with eight others including Balding and Kot Nagle of Australia. Balding had 74 Friday and Nagle 75.

Arnie Palmer is alone in seventh place with 220 after a 72 Friday while Mike Bursback of England, the only amateur to qualify for the final round, is at 221 after a third-round 74.

Roberto de Vicenzo, the defending champion from Argentina, shot a 74 for 223, but needed an eagle three on the 18th hole to do it.

Winner of five British Opens, Peter Thomson of Australia scored to a 75 and 226 for the first three rounds.

In Manitoba Open

Thompson Takes Golf Lead

WINNIPEG — Alvie Thompson of Toronto continued to play consistent golf Friday and took over the lead after two rounds of the 54-hole Manitoba Open with a 35-hole total of 142, two under par.

Thompson had a 35-35-70 to go with his even par 36-36-72 total on Thursday for a one-stroke lead over Bill Wright, Jr. of Edmonton, who had the hottest round of the day, and Ken Fulton of Trail.

Wright, who shot a 76 Thursday, had a brilliant 67 Friday to jump into contention. Fulton fired a 71 Friday although missing three puts of three feet or less.

Only two other players were par or better after two rounds at the tricky Bel Acres course.

At even par 144 were Dave Gumbia of Minneapolis, the first-round leader who blew to a 73, and Dave Clayton of Toronto, who had a 69.

Tied for sixth place at 145 were Frank Fowler of Calgary,

Will Homensack of Winnipeg and

Winnipeg and Dayton Olson of Minneapolis.

Bill Wakeham of Victoria shot a second round 73 and was in a five-way tie for ninth place at 147 with Wayne Voller of Vancouver, Bob Orr, Jr. of Richmond, Nick Michonki of

Minneapolis.

Province Mailing Welfare Payments Early

Welfare Minister Dan Campbell said Friday his department will mail welfare payments early to avoid a tieup or hardship to recipients in event of a postal strike, scheduled for next Thursday.

"July cheques for people receiving blind, disabled and aged person allowances and supplementary social allowances will be mailed by Monday," a statement said.

"The cheques for the month of July are dated July 31st and recipients are asked not to cash them before that date."

10,000 PERSONS

The federal government has already announced early distribution of federal pension and welfare cheques.

Included in the early B.C. mailings are cheques to 10,000 persons receiving old age security supplementary social allowances, 2,000 persons on old age assistance, 350 blind and 2,100 disabled persons. The July cheques total $672,000.

NOT INCLUDED

Mr. Campbell said 30,000 cheques to families on social assistance and to 4,500 foster parents are not included in the early mailing.

These cheques are normally distributed between the 5th and 12th of each month and the July cheques have already been mailed.

"If the strike should come about and continue into the first week of August, we will make the necessary arrangements to distribute cheques locally through our provincial and municipal offices."

PROVISIONS UNDECIDED

In Victoria and Saanich, welfare cheques for July were mailed at the end of last month, and no provisions are being made for early distribution of August cheques.

"If there is a strike we shall make the cheques available for clients to pick up at the office," said Victoria welfare administrator Alex Davidson. "It's inconvenient, but not impossible for most people."

AVAILABLE FOR PICK UP
Saanich administrator Buntie Marshall said cheques would be made available for pick up if the strike continues into August.

Victoria Postmaster James

Deans said his workers are preparing for the worst. "Before DEADLINE" "We are processing Family Allowance and Old Age pension cheques for early mailing so they will arrive before the strike deadline," he said.

"Our workers are working overtime to get them out." He advised that anyone mailing letters Monday or later should use Air Express to be sure of delivery before Thursday.

Lectures On Stars Arranged

Problems of astronomy will be discussed in a lecture series being arranged by the Victoria centre of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada.

The five weekly sessions, which begin July 28 will conclude Aug. 26 with a visit to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory.

They will be held Monday nights at 8:30 p.m. in Room 160 of the Elliott Building at the University of Victoria.

First lecture by Dr. C. D. Scarfe will be about Heavens as seen from the earth.

Other lectures are: Aug. 28, The system to which the earth belongs, by Dr. H. Grayson-Smith; Aug. 12, Our Galaxy, by Dr. D. Crampton; Aug. 19, Space beyond our Galaxy, by Dr. G. J. Odgers.

Girl Corps Serapes Fair Fare

Victoria's all-girl Thunderbird Drill Corps band will be its own sponsor when it takes part in Edmonton's Klondike Days celebrations July 18 and 19.

Bob Armstrong, band's director-manager who formed the group 10 years ago, said Friday that the girls collected money by washing cars and conducting raffles.

Helped by donations, and last year's bank balance, they will be able to pay the fare one-way. "We've got just enough to go. The Klondike Days Celebrations committee have guaranteed our return fare," he said.

He said the girls have been making antiquated costumes to blend into the spirit of the celebrations.

Garden Notes

By M. V. CHESNUT

I had 6 letter the other day from a woman whose lawn had been invaded by a small, creeping, ground-bugging weed, and while she has been snatching it out by the handfuls, it still advances and has taken over a substantial corner of the lawn. She enclosed a bit of this creeper in her letter and wants to know its name and how to get rid of it.

It so happens that this little fellow is my favorite weed. His true name is Nepeta hederacea, affectionately known to his friends' hedges as Creeping Charlie. In the U.S. his nickname is Ground Ivy, while in England he enjoys the delightfully old-fashioned name of Gill-over-the-ground.

In case you haven't met Charlie, he is a tiny ground-bugging vine seldom raising his head higher than 1½ inches above the soil.

He has small round leaves ranging from the size of a quarter to the size of a silver dollar, scalloped around the edges, a good dark green color, and bearing small dark blue flowers. His leaves, when trodden or crushed, give off an aromatic minty fragrance, for Charlie is a member of the catnip family.

Charlie has always been a good friend of mine, for I like his easy-going habit and the refreshing pungency of his scent when you walk on him.

He has his faults, — a tendency to invade the lawn, for instance — but I don't know of a better ground cover to use in places where you can't get grass to grow, or around a summer cottage where you don't want to be bothered mowing grass. He thrives in sun or shade and in sand, gravel, loam or heavy clay.

I have known Charlie for a long time and I thought I was familiar with all his virtues. But browsing through a very old garden book, I find that the herbalist John Gerard knew the plant very well in the year 1595 and was even more enthusiastic about it than I am.

Here is what he has to say about it: "It creepeth and spreadeth upon the ground hither and thither, with leaves of strong but pleasant smell and bitter taste, and flours graping like little hoods of a purplish blew colour. It is found most commonly in obscure and darke places, upon bankes and under hedges and by the side of houses."

"It is commended against the humming noyse and ringing sounde in the eares, being put into them, and for them that be hard of hearing."

"The juice dropped with a feather into the eyes taketh away all manner of inflammation, spots, webs, itch, smarting, or any griefe whatsoever in the eyes; yea though the sight be nigh hand gone, it is proved to be the best medicine in the world."

"The Women about Wales and Cheshire do turne the herbe into their ale; being drunke, it purgeth the head from rheumaticke humors flowing from the braine."

The last time I mentioned Creeping

Charlie in this column was, I think, about four years ago, and since that time I have had quite a few letters concerning this plant. This mail is divided almost straight down the middle between folks who want to know where they can get the seeds of it and folks who want to know how to get rid of the weed.

Regarding seeds, I'm afraid I can't be of any help. I wrote to an English seed firm noted for its ability to supply seeds of almost anything that grows, and I got back a snooty letter pointing out that Nepeta hederacea is listed under the Noxious Weeds Act, and any dealings in the seed, could be punishable by a stiff fine or even a spell in the hoosegow.

About the only way you can introduce Charlie into your garden as a ground cover, then, is to scrounge some bits from a neighbor or from the wild.

Charlie isn't too difficult to control nowadays. Mind you, you can't knock him off with the older 2, 4-D dandelion weedkillers — he thrives on the stuff. But if you wet or spray his leaves with one of the new reinforced weedkillers formulated to eradicate clover and chickweed, he will pass quietly out of the picture.

To prevent him from invading your garden from a next-door plot, cut a narrow slot with the spade along the property line and fill it with neat sulphate of potash or muriate of potash. For some reason, Charlie respects a potash picket line.

ARTHUR HOPPE Tells Another Fable

Pill That Changed the World

Once upon a time, there was a little Black boy named Horatio Alger who was very smart. But there was one thing he didn't understand. And he asked every wise man he met, both Black and White, for the answer.

"Why," he would ask with a puzzled frown, "must Black people live in ghettos, attend inferior schools, go without jobs and not marry whom-ever's sister they want?"

"The reason," said each wise man sagely, "is because of the color of their skins."

"But that makes no sense," Horatio would protest. "The color of a man's skin doesn't matter."

"True," agreed each wise man with a sad shrug. "But that's the way the cookie crumbles."

"Well, that's not fair," said Horatio frowning. "When I grow up, I'm going to change all that."

And he did.

For little Horatio persevered and became a famous scientist.

"If the color of a man's skin is what matters," said Horatio with scientific logic, "all we need to do to wipe out persecution forever is to change the color of a man's skin."

So he studied egosterol, melanin, Man-Tan, vitiligo, Glorox and leukoderma. And he discovered that the more melanin in your skin, the more brown you were. And the less melanin in your skin, the more pink you were.

"Eureka!" cried Horatio. "All I need to do is invent a melanin-factor control pill. People can then be any shade they want."

And after years of arduous experimentation, he did. Seeking the widest market, he took his formula to the giant Papa Sill's Pill Company.

"Just think," he said proudly to Papa Sill himself,

"by marketing my pill to make Black people White forever you can end racial inequality and make a million dollars."

"Of course, I have another formula to make White people Black forever, but I guess there's no market for that."

"Leave both," said Papa Sill, a very shrewd businessman, "and we'll make ten million dollars."

So Papa Sill manufactured 20,000,000 pills to make Black people White. And all the Black people, who were pretty tired of being pushed around, took one and became White forever.

But at the same time, Papa Sill manufactured 180,000,000 pills to make White people Black. "Why spend a fortune on Man-Tan, Caribbean cruises and sunburn lotion," said his advertisement, "when one pill can make you tanned forever?"

So all the White people, who were pretty tired of lying around greasy and sweaty on some grubby beach, took a pill and became Black forever.

Thus Horatio's lifelong ambition was realized. No longer did Black people have to live in ghettos, attend inferior schools, go without jobs and be ostracized for whom-ever's sister they wanted. That lot befell those who were now White people.

As for those who were now Black people, they said things like, "Some of my best friends are White, but would you want your sister..."

"Well," said Horatio, who was now a famous White scientist, "at least I proved the wise men wrong: it wasn't because of the color of our skins."

MORAL: The color of a man's skin doesn't matter. As long as it's different from that of the majority, he's going to get the short end of the stick.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

The Marriage-Go-Round

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — The ex-Madame Jean Paul Belmondo is about to do a Sybil Burton-Jordan Christopher. The man she is marrying is much younger. Oddly enough this usually works out better than the other way around. . . . And did you know — or care — that the Grima Willes have been separated rather quietly for several months, but it is now in the open because Orion is smitten—publicly—with another lady?

When I heard that David Beaumonte and Gayle Hunnicutt were sharing the same Castle Grasmere in Ireland, I knew it was final that they would marry at the earliest moment, which might not be until David has finished his Altered the Great film in Dublin and Gayle has made another movie for Universal. It was lucky for David that his head injuries when he fell from a 15-foot parapet were only bruises and an impacted tooth in his jaw. He could have broken his head. . . . Michael York, in the same film is happy because his brand new bride is working as a photographer on the set. They met — her name is Pat McCallum — when she was doing the same in India where Michael was starring in The Guru.

Natalie Wood is in London on what she describes as a "vacation." Come back to work Natalie and all will be forgiven. Of course her fiancé, Richard Gregson, is also in London.

Leslie Caron — (and there is a new man in her life. "I am not thinking of marriage, but things are good") — will probably be starring in Walter Shamus's next film. Leslie who still looks 18, told me she has just celebrated her 37th birthday. I absolutely refuse to believe this.

Charles Heston, a tennis bug, went to London for Wimbledon which lasted three weeks this year on account of the torrential rains. But they ended and were followed by blazing sunshine and some fabulous tennis. Charles will soon be going back to work in the sequel to his very successful Planet of the Apes. His 10 per cent of the gross is expected to give him between two and three million dollars.

If Lord Savarion accepts the Warner-Sevens Arts offer to photograph the movie biography of Tchaikovsky, now filming in Moscow, he will be the first member of the British royal family to set foot in Russia since the revolution. The Russians have promised the American company every kind of co-operation.

Tony Curtis and his new bride are settled in an old Roman villa for the start of his Italian filming Monday, of The Monte Carlo Rally and All That Jazz. Terence Young is planning to do The Monte Carlo Story, which could make things confusing.

With Ursula Andress in London to dub some of the dialogue for the picture she made in Africa, you know that Jean Paul Belmondo is not too far away. He has been spending weekends in the British capital, the other five days of the week working on his film in Paris. As far as the naked eye can see they are not yet married.

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiations to settle a labor dispute that knocked off the costly St. Lawrence Seaway strike June 21 have resumed here.

Seaway authorities and union officials plus a labor department team, began meeting here Friday afternoon.

The last negotiation meeting was held June 30.

The strike has trapped 70 ocean ships, left more than 200 lakers idle and is said to have lost workers, shippers and the seaway more than $15,000,000 so far.

member Council of Postal Unions, who announced the deadline at a Friday news conference, said that even if a satisfactory settlement is offered, it will take about three days to cancel the strike call.

Council spokesmen said they have asked Jacob Finkelman, chairman of the public service staff relations board, to convene a meeting with representatives of the treasury board, which bargains for the government.

BID ACCEPTED

It was not until later Friday when Prime Minister Trudeau was questioned at a news conference, that it was learned the government has accepted the bid for further talks.

Mr. Finkelman confirmed in an interview that he has agreed to assist the parties to get negotiations back on the road.

As the last-minute talks were being arranged, the government was speeding all welfare and pension cheques into the mails. Treasury Board President C. M. Drury announced Thursday that all such cheques would be delivered or in the mail by early next week.

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — A fuel drought created by a nationwide strike of gasoline tanker drivers has caused mass unemployment, disrupted airline schedules and almost halted road transportation in Australia.

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Nearly 2,000 prisoners, infuriated by a stifling heat wave, seized control of the Poggioreale Jail here Friday and fought a pitched battle with riot police.

two errant shots at the trawler Van Gogh in an incident the Russians described as "piracy on the high seas."

The captain of the trawler was once described in the Moscow press as a "bully" who overworked his crew.

The dispute over fishing rights escalated sharply Saturday when the pilot of the Neptune bomber ordered into the area by Prime Minister John Gorton along with a navy gunboat saw the trawler steering straight for the Australian fleet of 17 boats.

The patrol boat HMAS Attack steamed at flank speed toward the scene from base at Darwin.

A Russian embassy spokesman said the whole thing was "a small issue which has been blown up into an international incident. It is our regret that it got to the state level."

Prime Minister Gorton took the side of the hot-tempered Australian fishermen who were in no mood to see the Russians or anyone else move into grounds they consider private property.

Two Survive Crash, But No One Knew

ATLIN, B.C. (CP) — Luck and the determination of two helicopter pilots Friday saved the lives of two men who spent 36 hours in the bush of northeast B.C. after their own helicopter crashed on a remote mountainside.

Mike Dahin, 38, of Cloverdale, and Peter Estabrooke, 42, of Calgary, escaped with minor cuts, bruises and burns after their machine crashed and burned Wednesday on a steep mountainside 170 miles from here, 830 miles northwest of Vancouver.

The men were spotted by persevering fellow pilots after attempts over two days by air and ground parties failed to spot any signs of them in or near the wreckage.

Mr. Dahin, the pilot of the machine owned by Alpine Helicopters Ltd. of Calgary, was flying geologists on a surveying contract for Geophoto Services Ltd. of Calgary.

The tip of a rotor struck the mountain face as the helicopter dropped into the valley on its takeoff.

Suffering only from hunger and their minor injuries after escaping from the crash, the men had hiked down the mountain and spent nearly 36 hours waiting for help.

THE BIG ISSUE "ONE PARTY" POLITICS

Premier Bennett has made it clear that he wants to remove from the political scene of British Columbia every other party which believes in the principles of private enterprise. He has succeeded with the Conservative Party. Will he now succeed with the Liberal Party?

I believe that to have good government in a democratic society there must always be at least two non-socialistic parties available—one to form a government and the other an alternative for the people when they want a change.

Will we accept the Premier's plan to have only the New Democratic Party as an alternative to Social Credit? This is what he has asked for and this is what we will get if the voters of Oak Bay riding elect another government member on July 15th.

I will not accept his position on this, and I hope you agree. If you do, your vote for me on July 15th will ensure unmuzzled representation for our riding and also will prevent the Premier from carrying out his plans to polarize politics in British Columbia.

Flooring Strike May Expand

The small strike that has postponed the official opening of the $8,000,000 provincial museum is over, but it could be replaced next week by a new strike affecting construction sites throughout Greater Victoria.

This will depend on the outcome of a meeting Monday of contractors, the floorlayers' local of the carpenters union, and provincial government mediator Jack Sherlock.

"There will either be settlement or a complete breakdown," said John Schibli, business agent for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters in Victoria.

TO AUG. 16

Meanwhile, Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan announced Friday that the official opening of the museum had been postponed from July 19 to Aug. 16.

More than 600 invitations bearing the July 19 date had already been sent out to dignitaries.

The week-long strike against one contractor, Hourigan's Carpets and Linen Ltd., slowed finishing work on the new building to the point that opening ceremonies had to be put off.

NO BARGAINING

Unlike other flooring contractors, Hourigan's did not allow the Victoria branch of the Amalgamated Construction Association to bargain for it, Mr. Schibli said.

Strike notice of 48 hours had been served on all the flooring contractors concerned, but when the others asked a delay for a mediation meeting it was granted.

Hourigan's was not included. The strike action ended, Mr. Schibli said, when the firm gave bargaining and signing rights to ACA.

The last contract with Local 227 and the contractors expired March 31. Talks broke down some time ago. Members of the local, earning $3.55 hourly, want parity with counterparts in Vancouver who make $3.50.

Milk Price Holds Line

Victoria dairy officials said Friday they were unaware of any increases in milk prices planned for Greater Victoria, following an announcement of Vancouver companies that milk would cost two cents more a quart.

The Vancouver decision was made public just hours after 800 dairy employees approved a new two-year contract giving them hourly pay increases ranging from 46 to 59 cents.

Dairyland, the largest of the three Vancouver companies involved, sent out notices Friday that the price increase goes into effect Monday.

Saanich Honors First Freeman

They Put Average Man at Ease

By DON GAIN

Former Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes were welcomed home to Saanich Friday night in a formal ceremony marking their installation as the first freemen of the municipality.

Saanich council chamber overflowed with warm regard and good humor as upwards of 175 guests joined Mayor Hugh Curtis and eight aldermen in honoring them.

A guard of honor of 10 policemen stood at attention at the entrance of the building as Mayor Curtis and Mrs. Curtis, accompanied by Police Chief W. A. Pearson and Inspector Robert Peterson, welcomed the guests of honor. Before entering the council chamber, Maj.-Gen. Pearkes inspected the guard in the company of its commander, Sgt. Herbert Clarke.

Roll Called

The ceremony took the form of a special meeting of council. Municipal clerk Gordon Hayward called the council roll and each member rose as his name was called.

Canon Graham Baker of St. John's Anglican Church, president of the Greater Victoria Council of Churches, opened the meeting with a prayer.

Ald. Edith Gunning reread her motion of June 17 in which she moved that Mrs. Pearkes be made the first freeman of Saanich. Ald. William Campbell again seconded the motion.

In speaking to the motion, Mrs. Gunning mentioned the "great charm and warmth" of the former chateau of Government House and her good works "too numerous to mention."

First to Sign

Mrs. Pearkes placed her signature, the first, in what Mayor Curtis said would be an historic book, the Saanich roll of freedom.

Ald. Leslie Passmore reread his motion of June 17 naming Gen. Pearkes a freeman. Ald. Harold Todd again seconded the motion. In both cases the motions were unanimously passed by standing votes.

Ald. Passmore said the honor was a demonstrative acknowledgement of the respect and esteem in which Gen. Pearkes is held in his home municipality. The former lieutenant-governor was the second to sign the roll of freedom as a freeman.

Mayor Curtis called the ceremony unique — "for it is what baseball people would call a double-header. Tonight we pay tribute to you both."

Contribution

It was the first time such an event had taken place in the 62-year history of the municipality, he said.

"There can be no doubt, Mrs. Pearkes, that you have made a vital contribution to your husband's successful and varied career. At Government House especially, your warm and friendly personality has made the Pearkes' years there an outstanding period in this history of vice-regal representation."

The mayor recalled newspaper and other reports of Gen. Pearkes' career. An item in the Victoria Times of Dec. 24, 1917, reported that "Mrs. L. Pearkes of Mount Tolmie has heard from an independent source in England, that her son, Major George Randolph Pearkes, MC, has been recommended for the Victoria Cross."

As an example of Gen. Pearkes' modesty, Mayor Curtis read the brief communication Mrs. Pearkes received from her son. It read:

"Dear Mother: Was awarded the Victoria Cross. Love, George."

He lauded Gen. Pearkes' concern as an MP "that a better route should be found for the new Trans-Canada Highway. He expressed particular concern with the fact that the proposed new route would still run through the bottleneck of the Parsons Bridge area."

Other projects undertaken by the former MP were additional assistance for the blind, improvement in veterans' legislation, special air freight arrangements for Vancouver Island daffodils and grants in lieu of taxes for Esquimalt municipality.

Mayor Curtis spoke of the "general air of friendly informality that characterized your years in the vice-regal home."

He congratulated the couple on successfully avoiding "the stigma of officialdom—a pre-occupation with those only in high places."

"The ability to make average men and women feel comfortably at ease in your midst is, and has been, an outstanding quality."

The mayor's speech ended on a humorous note. He said that, during his years as chief magistrate of Saanich, he had heard not a single complaint from Gen. Pearkes concerning taxes or the efficiency of various municipal services and personnel.

Point Settled

"You have, however, on several occasions made specific and fairly strong reference to one minor source of annoyance."

Sidney-North Saanich Dispute

Fire Budget Adds New Fuel

By NANCY BROWN

A fire budget approved by Sidney council has been ruled out of order by North Saanich council.

The move adds to the friction already existing between the two councils over the volunteer fire department which is under the control of North Saanich but which serves both areas.

Sidney is already seeking ways and means of legally getting a share of the assets of the fire department in which they contribute annually through taxes.

WELCOME, IF

North Saanich Mayor J. R. Cumming says Sidney is welcome to a share in the assets—and the liabilities—if they will come up with a concrete proposal.

Mayor Cumming said Friday that Sidney had approved a necessary fire department budget three months ago, and then turned around two weeks ago to approve an alternative budget which commits the fire department to the hiring of a paid fire chief.

NO SAY

Ald. Trevor Davis of North Saanich added that Sidney has no say in policy matters as all assets and liabilities of the department are owned by North Saanich.

"We try to co-operate with Sidney by keeping them informed and asking their approval, but actually they have to go along with us unless they want to set up their own fire-fighting arrangement," said Mr. Davis.

OVERSTEPS

Mayor Cumming said the joint fire committee had overstepped its authority in re-submitting an already defeated budget, which would mean a change of authority.

Mayor Cumming said that three months ago he and Sidney Mayor A. W. Freeman had agreed to a half mill increase—amounting to more than $6,000—for the purchase of equipment for the fire department which serves the two areas.

BOUGHT INCREASE

"The joint fire committee had originally asked for a mill increase and the hiring of the paid fire chief," said Mr. Cumming. "We decided against the fire chief, and sent the budget back to be revised to the half mill increase."

TWO BUDGETS

"This action was approved by both councils, and recently we received this revised budget from the fire committee."

"Unfortunately the committee overstepped the mark, and submitted two revised budgets—one for equipment only as instructed, and another for the same amount which provided for the hiring of a fire chief for six months only."

LATTER APPROVED

This latter budget was the one approved by Sidney council.

"Sidney has noted this without full consideration," said Mayor Cumming.

"You can't hire a man for six months and then drop him. It has to be a permanent post or none at all," he said.

"This is a policy decision which has never been reached. Appointment of a fire chief would be a municipal affair, and would have to be advertised for open competition with obvious complications."

In approving the budget which includes the fire chief Sidney was allowing the committee to dictate rather than administer policy.

Elk Lake Race Called Off

Saanich's Elk Lake swimming races planned for Sunday have been cancelled because of lack of entries. Ald. Leslie Passmore announced Friday.

"We've had lots of inquiries but only three applications," Mr. Passmore said.

Unionist Pressing Province To Lift Berry Pickers' Lot

Boys and girls without toilet facilities... without clean drinking water... without decent working conditions... toiling in the hot sun, under-paid, stripped of human dignity.

There are men in the British Columbia labor movement for whom this picture is very real. And they would do something to have it erased.

One such man is E. T. Staley of Victoria, president of the B.C. Federation of Labor, which has decided to press the provincial government for a better way of life for the berry pickers.

Mr. Staley said Friday night the federation is acting on "some serious complaints," most of them stemming from the Fraser Valley.

On Friday the federation appealed to the provincial government to bring the berry pickers—many of them referred to as children—under the Labor Relations Act and minimum wage provisions.

The federation said this would help protect the pickers from what it termed "unscrupulous farmers."

In Vancouver the federation's secretary, Ray Haynes, said:

"The solution lies in the government's present exemption of farm workers from the Labor Relations Act and the minimum wage regulations."

"These exemptions allow unscrupulous farmers to exploit pickers and farm workers. The government must recognize that these workers are entitled to the same conditions and wage protection as others in the community."

Mr. Staley agrees, but says he has not had similar complaints where berry picking is concerned on Vancouver Island.

He said most of the complaints concern the Fraser Valley. Not just the pickers, but other concerned persons, had registered disapproval with what has been happening on the farms, he said.

Among the major complaints, he said, are the lack of toilets for both boys and girls working together and the lack of proper drinking water.

"It can get pretty hot out there in the sun," he said.

"The main thing now is to try and get these people some decent conditions and wages."

Cox Hits Socred Policies

'Fairy Tale' Report Rapped

By DIANE JANOWSKI

Liberal candidate Allan Cox last night attacked the Social Credit government's education policy for causing "a very confusing situation."

"The premier's latest fairy-tale financial report brags about the expenditure of huge sums on education, but according to the unbiased non-political Canadian Tax Foundation, British Columbia ranks seventh among provinces with respect to provincial aid to education."

"It seems awfully strange to me that since our province is so rich we have situations like those caused by the government's attitude toward approving such things as an expenditure of absolutely essential school money which has already been passed more than a year ago by the property-owners of this area," he said.

"But according to the premier, the province had an enormous surplus last year. If he doesn't want to reduce the rate of provincial taxation, why doesn't he make this money available to local governments so they can carry out the program the province has made their responsibility?" he asked.

The former Oak Bay reeve told an audience of approximately 50 at Henderson Hall the government's "confusing" philosophy could also be applied to other aspects such as hospitals and pollution control.

"We've had these problems for years already and we'll still have them until there are understandings between the different levels of government. I've never before seen any indication of the premier's friendliness with the federal government," he said, referring to recent Socred claims of friendly terms with the new government.

He suggested the pre-Social Credit method of providing revenue whereby the municipalities received one-third of the sales tax and of the motor licence fees in addition to property tax.

Old Vegetables Not Approved

By EILEEN LEABOYD

This is the story of an unusual breakfast porridge.

The ingredients for this porridge were given to me by a man who wishes to remain anonymous so I shall refer to him as Mr. X.

Those who wish to try the porridge for two months, can write letters to Mr. X (care of me at The Daily Colonist) and he will comment on the results.

Here are the ingredients, which are about one month's supply he states:

1 lb. wheat
1 lb. groats
1 lb. buckwheat
1 lb. alfalfa seed
1 lb. flax
1 cup rich polishes
1 cup bran

Now you mix all of the above together in a blender and that is the mixture one uses basically.

For daily use take 1½ cup of the mixed meal and put it in a saucepan with 3 cups of water and a pinch of salt. Keep stirring the mixture (so it won't burn) until it comes to a bubbling boil, then take off the heat and let it sit for 5-10 minutes. Serves two.

If you haven't got a blender, the 1½ cups of mixed meal can be cooked the previous night in a double boiler, for two hours and re-heated in the morning.

Along with this recipe goes the admonition — in fact absolute instruction — to eat no white bread, and no white sugar.

White bread and white sugar will destroy the B vitamin in the body, says X.

Mr. X advises that for the rest of the day you can eat anything else you please. He does, however, add that lots of fresh salad with lunch and dinner would be to your advantage.

The nutritional value — and therefore the curative powers of this porridge — are nothing short of wondrous, says Mr. X.

He cited three cases of people he knows.

Case I: A Victoria man (I telephoned this man and he verified what Mr. X stated) who has had rheumatoid arthritis for six years, began taking the porridge seven weeks ago. This man told me he had lumps all over his body and hands. He took 15 aspirin a day to kill his pain. Merely to turn over in bed was an agony. This man states he is now sleeping well for the first time in six years, has no pain and his lumps are disappearing. He is 66 years old and feels life might be worth living again.

Case II: A man fairly young who was hobbling about on crutches. In three months he was walking alone and got a job. (Couldn't contact this man.)

Case III: A woman in her fifties who caught mono-nucleosis and was informed by her doctor that she would be several weeks in bed, began at once to take the famous porridge and was shopping in town four days later. I phoned this woman who says it is quite true. Revisiting her doctor she tells that he was amazed at her recovery, and asked her what she had done. On telling him of the porridge, he said, "You were given sound advice." She said to the doctor, "Then why did you not advise me of the value of it." His reply is unknown.

Mr. X claims that this breakfast porridge will make up for the lack of many diet deficiencies. Vegetables, he says, are excellent, but are they fresh out of a garden or have they been on a store shelf for a week? If they are over 24 hours out of the ground, they may merely be filling the system with bulk.

"The vitamins in vegetables are lost," he continued, "through constant exposure to light. Thorough soaking in water and through great heat. If a carrot or a cabbage is not eaten soon after it is taken from the garden the vitamins are lost."

Mr. X is not a faddist. He eats almost everything and anything, merely adding the porridge in the recipe to his daily intake of food.

He does suggest brown sugar or honey instead of white sugar and replaces white bread with brown. He eats meat moderately and worries that some vegetarians will miss the amino acids that are contained in meat.

"If vitamins are likened to bricks, then amino acids can be likened to mortar."

He states people are not meant to get sick and if more people added the porridge to their diet, there would be fewer hospitals.

Mr. X has clear skin, no lines in his face and looks younger than he is.

He SWEARS the porridge tastes good.

Simplest Tools Frustrate Some

By TRUDY KEMP

Now, a hammer looks like a simple tool! Even a three-year-old boy knows how to use one (granted, the coffee table is probably his unsuspecting target).

But to me that bunk of steel and wood is a menace. It has a mind of its own. It won't hit the nail straight into whatever it is supposed to be heading into. Instead it bends the nail or decides the handyman's thumb is fair game.

I found out later it is a lot to do with how you hold the b-thermostone thing.

My husband's explosive "for Pete's sake, don't you know how to hold a hammer," did rattle somewhat.

Then, I guess he couldn't be blamed for his exasperation... He was struggling to hold upright a 24-foot stud wall while his rather incompetent carpenter's helper, namely me, was trying to drive a nail into the wall brace and floor.

You guessed it. The nail bent and my thumb got in the way.

"Don't hold it by the top! You won't get any power that way. Hold it at the end," was the curt advice.

Much more power behind that bunk of metal and I would end up with no thumb, was my silent remark.

I finally managed, after a couple of more swings, to drive the second nail in place, and just in time... The front wall of our summer cottage was beginning to lean dangerously forward.

We should have had our camera rigged on time exposure. But, then perhaps it is just as well that such a scene was not recorded for posterity!

My more competent partner took over from there. I was able to hold the wall up with the help of the brace I had nailed to the floor, while he nailed the second one up.

I also have a thing about saws... I close my eyes every time I see someone using one. So I guess what I did just before last Christmas was quite a step forward in my training (as a carpenter?).

I was determined to set the little tree up and have it decorated before my better half came home from work. I needed some braces to jam into the wall of the tree and to keep the tree from listing to starboard.

I found a long strip of wood, marked it to required lengths, then placed in on the table saw along that wicked looking blade.

Standing well back, gingerly holding on to the extreme end of the long strip, I kicked the switch "on" with my foot, then slowly guided the wood through.

Half-way through the blade apparently hit a knot in the wood (so I was told later) and let out an unearthly screech. Needless to say, I just about took off for the hills!

I ended up by breathing the rest of the strip of wood into sizes I wanted. To my mind a sore knee was a lot better than a missing arm.

Nor did I think my husband's chuckles were called for when I later described my terrifying experience with his saw.

Now, when it comes to putting up a ladder, that is a challenge to any gal. Especially if she has unwittingly left her husband stranded on a somewhat high-off-the-ground roof.

Such was the situation the Kemps found themselves in over the weekend.

Jack, who was planning to do some work on the newly shaked roof of the summer cottage had carefully positioned the ladder against the wall at the end where the ground dips. It took a bit of evening up with bits of wood as the ladder was a shade too short.

He climbed up on to the roof without any mishap, finished what he wanted to do at that end, then clambered over to the far end. It was at this point the "fun" began.

He asked his "helper" to move the ladder to the far end of the cottage where the ground was more level and higher.

It sounded like a reasonable request. However, I found the cumbersome ladder wasn't a lightweight. It crashed to the ground.

I tried to pick it up... the wrong way, I might add.

After a few attempts I managed to get it back up against the cottage but it insisted on catching under the eaves making it impossible to slide it along.

The fact that less than five feet behind me was a steep bank didn't help matters any. I could picture ladder and yours truly squashed on the rocks below. I have a vivid imagination.

In the meantime it was getting rather hot on the roof and the situation below was somewhat sticky, too.

Jack's step-by-step instructions on how to put the beastly ladder up finally sunk in and after a few tense moments he was safely on the ground.

At that point I didn't dare suggest that he really should have put the ladder on the high ground in the first place. Now, it is safe to say so, maybe.

The cottage is managing to get built in spite of my help!

Why NOT? Create the Italian summer makeup yourself!

They recommend almost no makeup except a tan and the "now" classic eyeliner but on second look you notice there is a lightly, very lightly applied white makeup on the eyelid. The effect creates a hidden "spotlight" look to the eyes. However, without a tan this can be very effective as long as the "white" is not too obvious. Rome "E".

LOS ANGELES (LAT) — The men and women who work with Mrs. Jewell Lyons call her "the snake charmer."

But she doesn't think it's funny.

Mrs. Lyons, 33, was checking a parcel in the loose articles section of the post office mailing requirements department in the terminal annex.

The tattered parcel had no identification marks, and Mrs. Lyons' job is to try to find where to deliver parcels without addresses.

She opened the end of the box — about the size of a stocking box — and "these snakes started pouring out of it."

Altogether, seven — count 'em — seven snakes poured out.

"I didn't even scream," she said. I didn't have time. I scrambled on top of a desk, right out of the way, and then I shouted for help. I was terrified.

"No one came to help at first. Everybody in the office was too busy getting out of the way."

Then one of the men came in. He started collecting them. He knows snakes and said they were harmless. Then we called the animal shelter, and they sent a man to pick them up.

Senior animal control officer Delmar Tilley, of the city department of animal regulations said:

"There was pandemonium in that office. There were snakes in the desk and snakes under the boxes. And this lady who opened the box was standing on the desk and wouldn't come down."

Snake Charmer Just Unamused

LOS ANGELES (LAT) —

The men and women who work with Mrs. Jewell Lyons call her "the snake charmer."

But she doesn't think it's funny.

Mrs. Lyons, 33, was checking a parcel in the loose articles section of the post office mailing requirements department in the terminal annex.

The tattered parcel had no identification marks, and Mrs. Lyons' job is to try to find where to deliver parcels without addresses.

She opened the end of the box — about the size of a stocking box — and "these snakes started pouring out of it."

Altogether, seven — count 'em — seven snakes poured out.

"I didn't even scream," she said. I didn't have time. I scrambled on top of a desk, right out of the way, and then I shouted for help. I was terrified.

"No one came to help at first. Everybody in the office was too busy getting out of the way."

Then one of the men came in. He started collecting them. He knows snakes and said they were harmless. Then we called the animal shelter, and they sent a man to pick them up.

Senior animal control officer Delmar Tilley, of the city department of animal regulations said:

"There was pandemonium in that office. There were snakes in the desk and snakes under the boxes. And this lady who opened the box was standing on the desk and wouldn't come down."

Battle Rages On

LONDON (UPI) — They chained themselves to the railings of 10 Downing Street and one of their little band killed herself under the hooves of one of the king's horses.

So the suffragettes more than 50 years ago fought the successful battle for women's votes with their fortunes and even their lives.

Now 187 sewing women, most of them plump and motherly, have taken the equality for women another long step forward without even realizing it.

What the "petticoat strikers" wanted when they walked out of the Ford plant in June was a raise of a few cents an hour for their job of sewing seat covers for automobiles.

They were somewhat surprised when this simple action brought large sections of the huge automotive complex to a standstill and threw more than 9,000 men out of work.

They had not realized they had such power and for a week or so they did nothing about it. They were getting 85 per cent of the average men's wage and as much as a small raise they wanted recognition that theirs was not an unskilled job.

Suddenly the words "equal pay" began to be heard — words that gave new hope to the 8,500,000 women workers in Britain. Why couldn't all of them get the same money as men for doing the same jobs?

Ford capitulated on the first day of July with an offer that raised its sewing women to 92 per cent of the men's rates. It explained that a differential would remain because women are not permitted night shifts, nor can they do heavy physical work.

The award brought Ford's women in line with the pay rates already in effect at the Vauxhall automobile plants. And union officials said they would now seek to impose this advance on the rest of the motor industry which employs more than 110,000 women.

With pressure by women building up all over the country labor sources believe the engineering and electrical industries which employ more than 617,000 women, will be the next goal of those union officials who want absolute equal pay for most jobs.

Mrs. Barbara Castle, minister of employment and productivity — who gets the same pay as her male cabinet colleagues — estimates equal pay for women could be achieved in the next seven years, or only 183 years after Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley (wife of the poet and the author of "Frankenstein") wrote her ringing "a vindication of the rights of women."

This isn't exactly breakneck progress but economically Britain has to move slowly. Equal pay for women would cost up to $2,000,000,000 a year and many doubt the country can afford it at the moment.

Every Woman May Now Quickly

LIFT HER FACE OUT OF SUMMER LINES, WRINKLES and Aging DRYNESS

thanks to the "European Discovery" CEF-600

Helps Every Complexion Regain and Retain The Younger Look By Immediately Counteracting Effects of the Hot Baking Sun

No matter if skin is typed dry, normal or even oily... no matter whether you tan greatly or burn easily... the summer sun dehydrates, drains skin of water and deprives it of the necessary moisture that pushes skin up and out to keep it as smooth, firm and wrinkle-free as the day you were married. And now, on holiday when you particularly want to look your youngest best, the summer sun works overtime to dry out and makes your skin on face and neck flabby, sagging, rough and weather-beaten. You look and feel years older than your age. And your husband... it makes him feel older too!

Your One and Only Chance For Quick Summer Youth Medical journals have acclaimed the "European Discovery" known scientifically as CEF 600 and now embodied as the active ingredient in the cosmetic lotion named "2ND DEBUT."

Apply "2ND DEBUT" nightly before retiring and daily before make-up. Day and night, it is constantly carrying water into the skin... counteracting all the skin drying effects of the hot-summer sun that parches, dries, wrinkles your skin and makes it sag.

How 2ND DEBUT Works Quickly Once again skin is moisturized, fresh, dewy radiant. Once again those aging lines and wrinkles are pushed up and out. Once again skin on face and throat is smooth and years younger in appearance. Its matter how long your complexion may be, a youthful color glows from within. Your complexion seems to have been born beautiful. Only 2ND DEBUT can bring about this amazing skin-purifying miracle... in spite of the drying summer sun!

IMPORTANT TO REGULAR USERS OF 2ND DEBUT Particularly in these summer months, in time with your skin reverts to the lined and wrinkled condition it was, unless you keep using 2ND DEBUT day and night. Your skin is constantly exfoliating... old skin flakes off and away and new skin is constantly being born. In summer weather it is more important than ever that you keep applying 2ND DEBUT before retiring and before make-up if you want to retain your soft, smooth youthful looking complexion. Users of 2ND DEBUT with CEF 600 are urged to switch to 2ND DEBUT with CEF 1300... double strength and to use it all summer long.

For Extra Dry Skin... Or Mi-Lady In A Hurry... 2ND DEBUT with double strength CEF 1300

New DOUBLE STRENGTH 2ND DEBUT contains CEF 1300 instead of CEF 600. It acts much faster to smooth and flatten skin, made silky by the summer sun... and it works quicker to push up and out the more deeply seated lines and wrinkles.

Male Beauty Booming

Down Under Comes on Strong

Fashions from the current winter scene in Australia, provide inspiration for this autumn in British Columbia. Ideal for opening the college season here is this knitted, crimplene suit and matching spats done in pale pink and blue plaid.

HOLLYWOOD (LAT) — If the cosmetics-for-men trend keeps escalating, his and hers dressing tables may not be far behind.

The dressing table with its plethora of beauty aids has long been a woman's domain. Now the man of the house can bring home almost an equal number of "grooming" products.

Half a shell in the medicine cabinet was enough for his razor, comb and after shave lotion in days past. But the day of the five-minute shave and two-minute haircomb is disappearing.

After all, a man can't apply his facial masque, skin tonic, moisturizer, makeup base, perhaps powder and false eyelashes on a time clock basis and without proper accouterments.

The whole idea may seem a little far fetched to many people, but the booming business of cosmetics for men proves that men search for the fountain of youth just as eagerly as women.

These male-oriented products often masquerade under names like bronzer, rather than makeup base. But they do the same job for men that glamour-named beauty aids do for women.

A plush pink and red makeup salon in Hollywood is doing a land office business, not only selling cosmetics for men, but showing them how to apply it.

Guiding light of this combination makeup salon and boutique, "Christina's," is Christina herself, a beautiful miniskirted blond.

In the many-mirrored makeup room, Christina plies her makeup knowhow on both men and women. Two young men awaited her ministrations.

"I believe in the natural look. A man should never look madeup. But he has every right to look better," said Christina as she dabbed Braggi Bronzer on the face of Bill Fraker, who divides his working hours between being a good miner and a race car driver.

"I'm giving him a daytime makeup," added Christina. "Now this just gives him a healthy glow. But this is really the fourth step. The first step is a face wash with this." "This" was a foaming translucent product that looks like soap but isn't.

"A facial pickup masque that reduces lines is next. See, Jerry has it on now," said the busy blond, indicating a dark-haired young man, Jerry Sweet, who sat in the next chair with a gray film drying on his face.

"Then we add a moisturizer ... with the bronzer this completes a daytime makeup for men. Of course, for evening wear we finish with cover tone. This product is also good to cover a five o'clock shadow."

(Cover tone looks just like the compact powder to be found in most women's handbags.)

As the real finishing touches, a false mustache and beard were added. Then came the grabber — false eyelashes.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I hope you won't think this letter is too crazy to print. I am 14 years old and can't get over the death of my cat.

Tom was hit by a car. He barely made it home and I could see he was in bad shape. I had to argue with Mom to let me take Tom to the vet. The vet said Tom would be all right but I'd have to leave him in the hospital for a few days. Well, when I went to get him, the doctor said Tom would never be well and maybe it would be best to put him to sleep.

I cried half the night, Ann, and I just can't seem to get out of the depression. Tom was like a human friend. When I was blue, he'd do tricks for me and make me laugh. He was a faithful and loving.

This morning my parents brought me a little kitten, but that kitten is just not my cat. Please tell me how to get over this heartache. — MISSING MY FRIEND

Dear Friend: One of the tests of maturity as well as an essential ingredient of peace of mind is the ability to accept that which we cannot change.

Tom is gone and there's nothing you can do about it, so open up your heart to the kitten and give him a chance.

Dear Ann Landers: A mother in our neighborhood has made it clear that her five-year-old boy may not play with girls and her six-year-old girl may not play with boys.

This woman insists that all the trouble in the world starts with sex and she is going to see to it that her kids have nothing to do with it. You don't need to tell me she is a nut because I already know it.

I am writing to find out how I can keep her nuttiness from having a bad effect on the other children in the neighborhood, namely mine. My four-and five-year-olds have asked me why the woman tells them to go home. I don't know what to say. Any suggestions? — TREED

Dear Treed: Tell your children they are not to go where they are not welcome, and give no reason. In the meantime, let's hope those unfortunate kids get enough exposure to members of the opposite sex at school to offset the emotionally disabling influence of their sick mother.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl of 16 who is respectable and knows right from wrong. I've been going steady with Teddy for eight months. We have never done anything we are ashamed of. Both of us flunked French so we are taking it over in summer school. This means we have to study a lot. We study better together — which is the problem.

I have two bratty brothers who will not give us any privacy. The only way Teddy and I can get any studying done is to go upstairs in my bedroom and lock the door.

Last night my father blew his cool because we were in the bedroom and the door was locked. He embarrassed me so badly I cried. My mother sided with me and that started an argument between Mom and Dad. Now Teddy is afraid to come over and my whole life might be ruined. Help, me please. — HUMILIATED

Dear Hum: Your mother may be on your side but I'm with your dad. A bedroom is not the proper setting for a 16-year-old girl and her boyfriend for studying — or for anything else.

It's up to your parents to control your bratty brothers. You should be permitted to have a guest in the living room and your mom and dad should see to it that you have privacy.

Woman Heads Theatre Centre

WINNIPEG (CP) — "Let's just say I'm a busy sort of person," says Mrs. W. Arthur Johnston, first woman president of the Manitoba Theatre Centre. Marjorie Johnston, who has been involved with MTC for nine of its 10 years, says: "Theatre is something that takes quite a lot of know-how."

Behind every one of our pharmacists is an expert cosmetician.

That's the beauty of Cunninghams.

When we first started selling cosmetics we found that it was a lot like dispensing prescriptions. We couldn't treat it as a sideline with one or two brands. And we found we couldn't leave beauty counseling in the hands of a junior clerk.

That's why today we have the largest, most up-to-the-minute selection of cosmetics and toiletries in the province. And with over 60 Cunningham drug stores, each with its own highly trained cosmetician, you don't have to tramp all over town to find what you want.

For the adventurous kind of woman, who would love to try those new wild and wonderful shades, by all means come in and talk to any one of our expert cosmeticians. She'll tell you if that new fuchsia pink lipstick is 'you'. And if it isn't, too. Which is another beautiful part of dealing with Cunninghams.

At Cunninghams we care. (H)

Interests Shared By Pollen Family

By DIANE JANOWSKI

"There really isn't very much to say about us," chuckled Mary Anne Pollen, an attractive brunette, after her eldest daughter, Jane, who was wearing a bathing suit and beach jacket, had shown me into the living room.

"We've been more concerned with the family than with anything else," she said.

"If you had to classify us in another way," her husband Peter added, "then I suppose you'd have to say we're sports-minded. We all love the beauty of the countryside."

"This summer we're going to rent a sailboat and sail up the island for our holidays," he said, "and next year we may take a Bowron Lake canoe trip and spend 10 days in complete wilderness."

"We like reading too, and music," he added.

"The girls take piano lessons." At this, Kathy, 10, went to the piano and played her favorite piece, "It's called Mist," she said.

"It even sounds like mist, it's so light and delicate," her father replied softly.

The girls — Jane, 13; Dana, 12; and Kathy, 10, are in Brownies and Guides as well as interested in hiking, sailing, tennis and swimming.

"And what do you do?" Mr. Pollen smilingly asked his six-year-old son. But John just flashed a gap-toothed grin and laughed.

In the five years since moving to Oak Bay, the Ontarior-born Peter Pollen has purchased his own business and become established in the area, but has still maintained a healthy respect for other parts and people of Canada.

"We were thinking of exchanging children for the summer with friends in Montreal, but decided to wait until they were older," he said. "The exchange will give them a chance to learn to appreciate what the French culture has to offer Canada."

Mr. Pollen has acted as a director of the Salvation Army appeal and is currently on the boards of directors of the Y.M.W.C.A. and also Bantam Theatre.

The family belongs to the Racquet Club and the children, with the exception of Jane who attends Oak Bay Junior high school, attend Wilfrid elementary school.

Mr. Pollen studied political science at the University of Toronto, but is also an electrician as the house he built in the back yard for his children proves.

"See how strong it is," his daughter said as she climbed the ladder to show how to enter the house.

Mr. Pollen looked on approvingly, and then said, "Victoria has been very good to us."

Floatplane Next on Mission List

Racy Chapel to Ply Coast

By DON GAIN

The Anglican Church's Columbia III Mission has a new boat — Columbia IV — the gift of an anonymous donor, Lt. Col. D. Stewart Mitchell announced Friday.

Columbia III has been sold and, after extensive renovations needed for her new life, is embarking on a career as a charter cruiser under another name. Her new owner added an 'n' and she's now the Columbian.

FULLY EQUIPPED

Columbia IV, worth about $35,000, is a racy-looking cabin cruiser capable of 12 knots. She is completely equipped with modern electronic equipment such as radar, automatic pilot and ship-to-shore phone. She is based at Port Hardy, and is crewed by her skipper, Rev. Ivan Futter and a crew of one.

The 43-foot craft will cover the Gulf Islands from Guilford Island, southwest of Alert Bay, north to Bull Harbor, as well as most of the inlets on the Mainland and the Island. She'll be recognizable by the traditional mission colors of deep blue and white.

She has a very large deck salon which will be used as a chapel and has sleeping space for six.

FLOAT PLANE NEXT

Col. Mitchell said a commission of six persons, representing various areas of the mission's territory, is studying its future possible expansion.

"They're discussing the possibility of buying a floatplane to be flown by someone who would be priest-on-pilot," he said.

"This would supplement the work of the Columbia. There is so much movement of lumber camps that sometimes we can't locate them all. I flew over the mission territory recently and saw lumber camps we didn't even know existed."

From May to December last year Columbia III covered almost 6,000 square miles, and her chaplain, Mr. Futter, conducted church services, sacraments of communion, baptism and burial.

Canon H. J. Jones of St. Mary's, Oak Bay, is the new superintendent of the mission, replacing Archdeacon J. W. Forth.

Meanwhile, in Vancouver, the Columbian is ready for charter customers. Resplendent in a hull coat of pale blue and displaying a brilliant white on her superstructure, she's been completely renovated.

She sports broadloom and comfortable furniture and bunks for as many as 20 persons.

She can carry a lot more than that for a day's outing and her galley is equipped to feed them.

Now only 15 years old, she's got a long life ahead of her. She was built by Star Shipyards of New Westminster to a design of Robert Allan. She's 10 feet overall and her gross tonnage is 13.

Her new owner is Jack Cash, son of Victoria writer Gwen Cash. He keeps her berthed at the foot of Denman Street in Vancouver.

Minister Charges

Nigeria Poisoning Food for Biafra

UPPSALA, Sweden (LATI)

An impassioned young Presbyterian minister from embattled Biafra Friday repeated charges that Nigeria had poisoned relief food shipments. He swore his countrymen would starve before receiving any shipments except by air.

Rev. Inya Okata Agha Ude, 29, is a theological lecturer at Umuahia, Biafra. He charged that his native town, Umuahia, a community of 4,000, was leveled by Nigerian bombers and ground fire as a terrorist measure, although it was unattended and not militarily important.

"By vile Nigeria sent us contaminated basic foods," Ude said.

"Sold under the market price, salt was adulterated by fertilizer, powdered milk by arsenic. We have tested samples in our laboratories. We are sure of our facts."

FOOD CHECKED

"We have an intelligence service which has checked how the foods arrived, and from where. We have considered this matter carefully."

The World Council of Churches, whose fourth assembly is meeting here through July 21, has organized a massive relief program for pushing food and medicine to war-torn Biafra and Nigeria.

Nigeria is a West African nation of about 42,000,000 persons. Biafra, with 14,000,000, is its eastern part. It either left the Nigerian federation, or was pushed out, depending upon who is explaining how the war began.

CONVERSATIONS

Savage fighting has continued for many months. Rumors current here said that the seven Biafrans and several Nigerians present, have engaged in preliminary peace negotiations at Uppsala. But this was denied at a press conference.

Rev. Alan R. Booth, a Methodist minister on the WCC staff and acquainted with the nature of the discussions, said "conversations between the two parties have been just welcome interchanges between churchmen glad to see each other again. They have not the least intention — nor authority — to enter into negotiations."

The WCC has sought $300,000 for direct Biafra-Biafra relief, but its total aid, including foodstuffs, medicines and other material has passed $3,000,000. Much has reached Nigeria, and eight planes, about 100 tons in all, has arrived at Biafra and been distributed.

BEYOND VOLUNTEERS

"Even so, it is recognized that the situation is deteriorating so rapidly that it is beyond the capacity of voluntary agencies, separately or combined," a statement said.

Dr. Akin Ibiyan of Biafra, one of the WCC's six presidents, said there were 4,500,000 refugees in his country needing food, medicine and relief workers.

Transportation is a serious need, in moving relief supplies into the areas concerned.

ANOTHER MEANS

Ude said there was little more starvation, but in some areas hunger was important. He said Nigeria refused D.S.C. to accept supplies sent by truck.

"It is not only the poison," he said. "The Nigerians say they will deliver food to a point from which we haven't the means to bring it in, it is another means."

Matron Guest Talker

Jean McLeod, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan McLeod, 2339 Blanchard, will be the speaker in Metropolitan United Church Sunday morning.

Born in Victoria, Miss McLeod has just been appointed matron of the United Church Hospital at Bella Coola. For the past four years, she has been matron of the church hospital at Bella Bella.

Mrs. Frances Smith will be the soloist.

Dialogue Opens Program

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church is continuing its summer program of two morning services, at 9:15 and 11 a.m. The earlier service is in the form of a dialogue between the minister and the congregation. Rev. Bruce Molloy will conduct both morning services as well as the one at 1:30 p.m.

Magic will be supplied by a quartet composed of Marion Campbell, soprano; Marjorie Sturgeon, contralto; J. W. Bell, tenor, and David Conrad, bass.

of starving us to death. They send convoys along roads where they will be attacked, and they will say the Biafrans attacked them. They say they will permit us to truck it in over roads it would take months to repair and make suitable for wheeled vehicles.

"We say if Nigeria is serious about permitting us to import relief supplies, we will prepare strips for planes. They say no. If Nigeria will not trust Red Cross planes, how can we trust Nigeria?"

Ude said that although he was not an official negotiator, peace talks could begin if "Britain stopped the flow of arms to Nigeria, and if there was a cease-fire."

"We will not talk with a gun at our heads," he said.

Christian Scientists Observe Communion

Communion will be observed at 11 a.m. Sunday in First Church of Christ, Scientist, Pandora at Chambers, in keeping with tradition in all Christian Science churches throughout the world.

The lesson-sermon is entitled "Sacrament and includes these passages from Matthew: 'Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and broke it, and gave it to his disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it.'

Related passages from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy include this statement: "It is possible, — yes, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man and woman — to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

Three Churches One Service

Three United churches in Victoria will be represented at 7 p.m. Sunday service in First United Church, Metropolitan United's minister, Rev. A. E. King, and the congregation will attend. The sermon will be given by Rev. Murray Henderson of Belmont Avenue United.

The 11 a.m. service of First United will be broadcast at 7 p.m. over radio station CKDA.

Real Meaning Beyond Them

Bible Tales Not for Little Ones

By JOHN DART
 The Los Angeles Times
 Are Bible stories for children?
 No, says a Jewish layman. At least, not for little children.

"The stories are told and understood on a child's level as tales, very much like those of Hans Christian Andersen," claims Alfred Russel in Colloquy, a Christian education magazine.

"Is this what we want?" he asked.
 "Do the children, for example, learn the significant Jonah story of a universal God or do they learn the Jonah and the Whale story?"

Russel noted that books of Bible stories for children "abound like the fish in the sea" and most are excellent in appearance.
 But he challenged the point made in a recent book produced by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations in the flood story:

All the people in the world were bad! All but Noah. God punishes bad people! He drowns bad people!

"Noah's family was bad, by definition," commented Russel, "but they are saved together — teaching the values of nepotism."

Russel also asked how the story is told by Jewish and Christian teachers of Abraham preparing to sacrifice his son.

"Do teachers suggest to little children that they will perhaps one day teach to young men and women, that the Abraham — Isaac story probably was intended to symbolize the end of human sacrifice and was a message to the readers that such forms of worship were outmoded?"

Indeed, too many teachers use the story to suggest Abraham's submission to God's will. Can children discuss such a concept meaningfully?" he asked.

Russel is religious development director for the American Council of Judaism, an organization often scorned by other Jewish organizations for its anti-Zionism.

Russel's article appeared in the July-August issue of Colloquy, an ecumenically oriented magazine published especially for use by the United Church of Christ and the United Presbyterian Church.

Accompanying Russel's article was one describing the conclusions of Ronald Goldman, author of Religious Thinking from Childhood to Adolescence. Goldman is a lecturer in educational psychology at the University of Reading, England.

Goldman said underlying concern of his study was "to know what a child is able to grasp intellectually," believing that such knowledge would be "a surer foundation for education than to know only what adults feel the child ought to grasp."

Colloquy's summary of Goldman's findings were that the study disclosed "that very little in the Bible can be understood by a child before he is eight or nine."

"More specifically, he (Goldman) takes the position that the Bible story of Moses and the burning bush ought not to be taught to a child until he is 11, that of crossing the Red Sea, until he is 13, and that of the temptation of Jesus until he is 14."

Realizing that most teachers want to familiarize young children with the content of the Bible, Goldman points out the dangers in it.

Early exposure, Goldman claims, creates misconceptions and makes it difficult for him to deal with religious ideas basic to the biblical account.

A third article in the magazine, by a Catholic priest, took another point of view — that the question of exposing Bible stories to young children is not of when, but how.

"Catholics today cannot conceive of religious education at any level in which the Bible does not occupy a central place," said Rev. Mark Heath, O.P., chairman of the department of religious studies at Providence College. Catholics have begun to "opt for more" than "definitions and truths" in the traditional catechism method of teaching religion, he said.

Sterile Arena Aim Of Advance Party

More than 200 Victoria Jehovah's Witnesses will pitch in with mops, brooms and pails after Wednesday night's late-closure game to clean and polish Memorial Arena.

"They'll even be scraping the gum off the seats before their four-day convention starts Thursday afternoon."

"It is our policy to do this because many ladies, as well as people of all ages, will be there and absolute cleanliness is of utmost importance," convention manager Keith McCann said Friday.

The gap between needed and available rooms has closed, because of the friendly co-operation of Victorians, rooming manager Leif Rosvold said.

About 4,000 Witnesses now are expected to attend. They will come from Canada and the U.S. "Many appreciate the beneficial nature of our Christian assembly," Mr. Rosvold said, "and are extending the use of their facilities at moderate prices for the use of delegates. In fact, some have left the keys to their house while they are away and many others have offered free lodgings."

The public is invited especially to hear Kenneth Little, Canadian supervisor of the Witnesses, speak at 3 p.m. next Sunday in the arena. His subject is Man's Role About to Give Way to God's Rule.

These young Lutherans will attend summer classes

School Opens Monday

They're all ready for the children's vacation Bible school which starts at 9:30 a.m. Monday in Hope Lutheran Church, Carrick at Dean.

About 100 of the church's Sunday school pupils are expected to attend classes which last until noon, Monday through Friday, for the week-long course.

Children from other churches are also invited to attend. Pastor L. M. Carlson said this week. Age range is 3½ to 13.

Tell The Good News is the theme of the program which includes Bible study, singing of traditional and popular hymns and classes in handicrafts.

Families with transportation difficulties should phone the pastor at 383-6961 or 383-5784.

There is no set fee for the course. The average cost per child is $1.10. A free-will offering will be taken each day.

Moore

Own Song Slated

One of Victoria's new ministers will preach and one of his gospel songs will be sung at the Christian Business Men's Committee's 7 p.m. Sunday service at the Beacon Hill Park.

Rev. John Moore, who recently accepted a call to be pastor of Central Baptist Church, will discuss the question, What's wrong with the world and what's the cure? A combined choir from his church will sing. Of particular interest will be Mr. Moore's song, for which he wrote the words and music. Burdens Are Lifted At Calvary.

Scottish Pastor Inducted

Rev. John Moore, formerly of Ayr, Scotland, was inducted Tuesday night as pastor of Central Baptist Church.

Mr. Moore was formerly minister of a church in Inverness and of the well-known D. I. Moody Memorial Tent Hall in Glasgow.

Many telegrams were received to mark the occasion, including one from Dr. J. B. Rowell — founder of the church 33 years ago — who is on vacation in Britain.

Norman Barton welcomed the new pastor in his role as president of the Convention of Regular Baptist Churches of B.C. Dr. J. H. Pickford, president of Northwest Baptist Theological College, gave the charge to the new pastor.

Welcome was also extended by Rev. L. G. Baker, association president from Parksville, and Rev. W. D. McKee who delivered the charge to the people. Robert Hampton, chairman of the board of management, was chairman.

Refreshments and a fellowship hour followed the service.

Student Violence Blamed On Permissive Thinking

Much student violence is an outgrowth of permissive thinking, a Victoria minister said Friday.

"They get the idea that whatever they want they should have," said Rev. Murray Henderson of Belmont Avenue United Church.

"They demand rights in areas in which they have not wanted for them."

LOVE TO FIGHT
 Mr. Henderson was commenting on an article by Wilson Woodside in the current issue of The United Church Observer. Mr. Woodside, a political commentator, is just back from a tour of Europe and claims there is renewed evidence that men love to fight.

"The lessons of the Second World War, which made violence so abhorrent to their elders, today reach young people only through their textbooks," he writes, "or through the mouths of that discredited older generation which permitted the world to indulge in the greatest outbreak of violence in history."

"The readiness with which students in dozens of countries have turned to violence is profoundly depressing."

"SIMPLY A RIGHT"
 Mr. Woodside says it is so easy talking to students about the privilege of going to university. "To them it is simply a right and that's that. Their minds are not on what they've got, but what they haven't got."

Mr. Henderson believes that the opportunity of going to university is a privilege. "I believe that to be born is not a right but a privilege. The same applies to loving and being loved."

"The students have a right to express their opinions, he says, "but why be so violent in areas that are academic?"

"If they are truly interested in an education, but feel changes are necessary, why don't they attend lectures, graduate and then make the changes without destroying things?"

"I think something sacred is lost when they resort to violence and cause such destruction."

CONFORMITY
 Much of the unrest he sees as the natural restlessness of the young. "Young people always wanted to be free."

He also sees in it the conformity of the young. "This is what the young criticize the older generation for. But we conform no more than they do. Look at their clothes, their hair, their mores."

In the long run, Mr. Henderson concluded, the young people are no better and no worse than they ever were.

Building, Teaching

Couple Off to Guyana

Two Courtenay school teachers have gone to Guyana to take charge of a group of young Canadian Anglicans who are spending July and August on a work tour in that country.

The teachers are Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Gardner. Mr. Gardner is a former co-ordinator for CUSO and spent two years in Sarawak. His wife, Donna, after completing her education at UBC, went to Sarawak and the Gardners married there.

She teaches Grade 1 at Arden Elementary School and her husband teaches English and other subjects at Courtenay High School, as well as acting as counsellor there.

The Gardners are members of St. John's Anglican Church, Courtenay, which sponsors their trip along with the diocese, the national church and the Gardners themselves.

The young couple was due to leave Canada Friday after a three-day briefing session at Canterbury Hill, the church's conference centre near Hamilton, Ont.

The work tours are designed to stimulate a sense of vocation between the Canadians and the people of the countries to which they travel. In Guyana, 10 Canadians will be joined by a similar number of young Guyanese.

They plan to spend about three weeks at Issano, an interior mining town, to build a schoolhouse. They will later live in homes of various parishes and conduct vacation schools.

Seventy volunteers were selected throughout Canada out of about 400 inquiries and, after interviews and screening, 28 were approved. Four young men and six young women were chosen for Guyana.

Eight men and 10 women will make up the group for Jamaica which is under the charge of Jean Mitchell and Timothy Bedford of Ontario.

The Gardners' itinerary includes a 3,000-mile flight to South America, followed by a 250-mile, 15-hour trek by steamer and motor truck into the hinterland of Guyana.

Christians in 80 Countries Rally to Alleviate Misery

Drought victims in Southern Africa, rural workers in Ethiopia, children in Greece, dead people in Lebanon — these and many others are helped by members of Victoria United churches through the Canadian church.

Southern Africa is being struck by severe droughts, particularly in Rhodesia. In South Africa, there has been severe drought in almost every area of the Transvaal and there will be practically no harvest this season.

Such reports have been sent to the World Council of Churches which last week asked for $75,000 from its 233 member churches in 80 countries. A grant of $5,000 was given by The United Church of Canada.

Other grants announced this week include $2,500 toward a training school for rural workers at Lake Zwai, Ethiopia; $2,000 toward a school children's feeding centre at Philipias, Greece; $2,000 toward a dormitory in the Pr. Andrew Institute for the Deaf in Beirut, Lebanon and $1,000 toward a new building for the Orthodox Invalids' Home, Jerusalem.

Also included in the $68,530 total are grants for refugee work in the Near East, an orphan home in Hong Kong, TH wards in West Pakistan, community work in Kenya, medical work in Rio Nuni, (Africa), agricultural project in Zambia, social centre in Brazil, and others.

In addition, $3,451 for famine relief was divided between Nigeria-Dahomey and the Middle East.

Total grants in the first six months this year amounted to $106,530.

Garrison Probe On Kennedy Now 'Verified'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — District Attorney Jim Garrison's controversial probe of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy has taken a new turn with Garrison's disclosure that the intelligence agency of a foreign country has verified many of his findings.

Garrison claims that his office has exchanged information with the unnamed country's intelligence agency "that successfully penetrated the assassination operation."

The new information indicates "the assassination was accomplished by two major components," Garrison said. He identified them as "an element of the Central Intelligence Agency" and "a handful of extremely powerful individuals in the industrial complex of the Southwest."

Garrison made the disclosure in an exclusive interview with The Times-Picayune Thursday night. He could not be reached for further comment Friday.

The controversial district attorney declined to identify the country but said it is in Europe and is "a foreign power that militarily is on friendly terms with the United States."

He said that a representative of his office spent about a month with "the top men of the (the foreign country's) intelligence agency" and returned identified them as "an element of the Central Intelligence Agency" and "a handful of extremely powerful individuals in the industrial complex of the Southwest."

Pretty Schoolteacher Wore Hefty Heroin

NEW YORK (AP) — U.S. customs officials said Friday they found $4,000,000 worth of pure heroin taped to the bodies of a pretty schoolteacher and her hairdresser companion when they landed at Kennedy Airport on a flight from Brazil.

Authorities said the two Argentine women were "undoubtedly couriers" for perhaps the largest heroin smuggling ring in the world.

Customs agents said they became suspicious of Maria Avelina Gonzalez de Rossi, 28, the schoolteacher, and Melinda Lucia Burgueno Mainardi, 40, both from Buenos Aires, because of "the unusual bulk of their persons" when they landed here Thursday. The women were escorted to a private room and searched by women inspectors.

The search disclosed packages of pure heroin strapped to the women's bodies with two-inch strips of adhesive tape, authorities said.

Stanley R. Spinola, supervising customs agent, said the arrests were part of a series of members of a heroin ring located in South America, Italy, France and Canada. He said more arrests were expected.

The two women were charged with illegal importation of heroin and held on $100,000 bail each. If convicted, they could be sentenced to up to 20 years in jail and fines of $20,000 each.

Designer of Habitat Packs Up Over Rent

MONTREAL (CP) — Architect Moshe Safdie says he is moving out of Habitat, the federally-administered experimental housing project he designed for Expo 67, because the rents are "ridiculously high."

Mr. Safdie said in an interview Friday only 25 of the 114 apartment-homes were rented. Habitat is a cluster of box-shaped, concrete homes erected at Expo's Cite du Havre on the Montreal Shoreline.

"I know at least 30 families who would move in if the rents were lowered by a third," he said.

"When Habitat was turned over to Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. at the close of Expo, a trust company was asked to recommend rental rates."

It set them at 25 per cent lower than they are now.

"And the rates suggested by the company were given as an absolute maximum."

Rents currently being charged by CMHC range from $180 for a one-bedroom home to $620 for a four-bedroom dwelling. Habitat homes were built on the principle that the greater the quantity produced the lower the cost would be.

WHY I'M RUNNING

PETER POLLEN

Where do M.P.'s come from? What do they do for a living? Have you ever thought that as our Governments move to meet social change the Civil Service, rich with talented people, grows enormously; that as our world becomes more competitive larger companies join together for efficiency—and become even larger.

Then where do M.P.'s and M.L.A.'s come from? Obviously from an ever decreasing segment of society because civil servants and employees of giant companies find it almost impossible to run for public office. This leaves a relatively small segment of the population available for public service. Yet the growing complexities of Government make it more and more important that we have intelligent, dedicated representatives both in Victoria and Ottawa.

It is obviously essential, therefore, that citizens that are able to make a contribution to Government must become involved. Government needs this involvement. It needs a constant supply of new ideas and dedicated people in order that it can function effectively and efficiently for the benefit of all; in order that it can gradually increase not only our wealth but above all the quality of our lives.

I have made only one promise during this campaign. The second promise is that if elected I promise to serve you well.

POLLEN, George Peter Alexander

This new suite by Deicraft won the 1968 Canadian Design Award. And no wonder! A truly different, imaginative design that's truly practical. The space-saver table stores its own chairs in either of two positions with the table leaf dropping down to a handy 25" width, 43" length. Compactness which greatly enhances the open area effect, the spaciousness of your apartment. Deicraft artists created this design of selected Elm solids and Walnut veneers and meticulously finished them in Swedish Walnut. The final craftsman touch: lustrous Duradel for a lifetime of mar resistance. Chairs shown with black vinyl. Also available blue or honey cross weaves, rugged fabrics are Scotchgarded for maximum endurance and resistance to soiling from spilled liquid or food particles.

Only Chance to Avert Opposition Grand Slam

By IAN STREET

The rather slim hope of an upset win over the Liberals in Oak Bay appears to be the best prospect for Social Credit to avert a grand slam by the opposition in three provincial by-elections, to be held Monday.

Socred candidate Peter Pollen, a strong early runner in the local contest, seems to have lost ground in the past few days. The reason appears to lie in the adverse reaction among some residents to what they see as a government attempt to "pressure" them into supporting Social Credit. Liberal Allan Cox, a former reeve of the municipality, is favored to retain the seat formerly held by Alan Macfarlane for the Liberals. He has run a quiet campaign stressing a voter canvass and personal endorsement letters.

In North Vancouver, Captain's seat formerly held by Ray Perrault who resigned as provincial leader of the Liberal party and beat T. C. Douglas to win election to the Commons June 25, Liberal

Liberal Cox

David Broussard seems likely to finish on top in a field of five.

It is the Interior riding of Revelstoke-Slocan, formerly held by the NDP, however, where party leaders are spending most of their time during the latter stages of the campaign. Premier Bennett campaigned there Thursday and Friday and NDP leader Robert Strachan has spent the past week in the riding. Liberal leadership aspirant Dr. Patrick McGeer has also spent some time campaigning there although it's strictly a two-way fight between Social Credit and the NDP.

Socred candidate Burton Campbell, a Castlegar newspaperman, who twice before came close to upsetting NDP veteran Randolph Harding in this riding is running against newcomer William King for the New Democrats. There are indications that Mr. King, despite his political inexperience, should win by a fair margin. Unless Social Credit can pull off at least one victory Monday, the government will have lost a total of four by-elections this spring and summer. On May 21 it lost the key riding of Vancouver South to the NDP.

All three of the present by-elections are in opposition ridings—Oak Bay and North Vancouver were Liberal, and Revelstoke NDP—and Mr. Bennett has said in the past he would be satisfied to come out of this series with one victory. He would like Revelstoke-Slocan because that would mean revenge for the NDP victory in Vancouver South. But at a pinch, any riding would do. Mr. Bennett's personal involvement in these by-election campaigns may turn out to be a mixed blessing for the Socreds. He was the main speaker at a rally attended by more than 600 in Oak Bay junior high school. His speech caused little excitement though Mr. Pollen was warmly applauded. Liberals countered with criticism of what Mr. Cox called "the big green".

Trudeau Chides Unions:

Don't Squeeze Lemon—It's Public's

- Postal solution sought Monday, Page 16.
- Talks resume on seaway dispute, Page 16.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Friday that unions in the public sector are in effect bargaining with the public, especially the poor and unorganized part of the public.

He said at a news conference that some unions say in bargaining with the government: "Squeeze as much as we can from the lemon." "The juice does not come from my pocket," the prime minister added, "but from the public."

Mr. Trudeau said these remarks were not directed specifically at the striking St. Lawrence Seaway workers or the postal workers, who are threatening to strike. It was important that the public, including unions, be made to realize the difference between strikes in government service and those in the private sector.

There was a limit to the wage increases private companies could grant. A private company could go broke, but the government never did.

INFLATION GUARD

The government in some cases, however, had to look at the overall economic picture and prevent a starting an inflationary trend. Wage parity with the U.S. by some Canadian unions meant transfer of resources to one particular group. "Parity begins at home," Mr. Trudeau said. He added that he hoped he did not sound too reactionary on the subject of unions. Mr. Trudeau made three points:

- The government's drug bill, designed to lower prices of prescription drugs, will be reintroduced in Parliament.
- A wage increase for the postal workers was "conceivable."
- Parliament could be called into special session as early as July 26 or 27 but such a move was "purely hypothetical" as of now.
- He would go "very far" to enforce the rule of cabinet secrecy and solidarity, but ministers would be encouraged to speak for their own departments.
- He hoped to meet industry and labor in August on government plans for legislation creating a wages and prices review board.
- He planned a 10-day holiday beginning July 22 or 23 if things were "rosy." If Parliament had to be reconvened, he would leave on holiday earlier. He might visit some parts of the Canadian North.
- He will attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in January. There were no plans to meet President Johnson soon.

CABINET ORDER

The reorganization was ordered under the Public Service Rearrangement and Transfer of Duties Act through cabinet council issued by the cabinet. New legislation will be required for formal changes in the names of new departments. New departments: Communications; regional development; industry, trade and commerce.

Grits Capture Comox-Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Liberal Richard Durante has won the Comox-Alberni seat by nine votes over Tom Barnett, NDP, who has represented the riding for a total of 11 years.

It is the first time a Liberal has ever represented the constituency.

The surprise result followed a judicial recount by County Court Judge Harry McKay of Nanaimo. The unofficial count after the June 25 election put Mr. Barnett 53 votes ahead of his Liberal rival. When the official count was held recently his margin was reduced to three.

IWA Aftermath

Dissidents Map Dump-Moore Bid

- Rebel strikers back at work, Page 17.

By DON COLLINS

There is a move underway to dump forest union boss Jack Moore.

Less than 48 hours after he cast the deciding vote for a tentative settlement affecting 25,000 to 28,000 workers, there was talk of finding a "good replacement."

The plan is to pit someone against him when the International Woodworkers of America regional conference is held at Vancouver in September.

Mr. Moore has been the IWA's regional president in B.C. for six years.

Two of the more powerful IWA officers in the province have been mentioned as possible contenders when it comes time for nominations.

Only one, Weldon Jubenville of Lake Cowichan, has admitted that he might have his eye on the job.

Mr. Jubenville, who heads the 4,500-member IWA local at Duncan, said Friday night: "I'll put it this way—I'll be there."

The reference was to Syd Thompson, president of the largest IWA local in B.C.—the 7,000 strong Vancouver local.

Mr. Thompson would not say whether he wanted the top job personally, but declared: "There is one thing for certain—Jack Moore has got to go. He'll be opposed."

He said he expected some qualified union officer would stand for election.

Mr. Jubenville and Mr. Thompson, members of the IWA negotiating committee, were among those expressing bitter disagreement with the settlement.

Plane Hijacker Told 'Wrong Thing to Do'

MIAMI (UPI) — A sobbing, bubbling hijacker pulled a gun on Sen. James Eastland of Mississippi Friday night in an attempt to force a Delta jetliner to Havana, but a steel-nerved flight engineer convinced him it was "the wrong thing to do."

passengers and a crew of six, landed at Miami International Airport after a two-hour drama in the skies.

In Washington, D.C., FBI director J. Edgar Hoover identified the man as Oscar Daniel Richards, 32, of Springfield, Ohio. Hoover said Richards was charged with kidnapping and aircraft piracy.

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — Island City Flying Service said Friday a lone gunman hijacked one of its planes and forced the pilot to fly to Cuba.

Sniping Suspect Surrenders

BURLINGTON, N.C. (CP) — A man identified by police as the gunman who shot three men to death on a street in New York City's Bronx area Thursday night, surrendered to a sheriff's deputy here Friday.

Sheriff John Stockard said Robert J. Rogers, alias Robert Fugh, was unarmed and accompanied by his brother.

Rogers had been the subject of a manhunt since a hail of bullets from a .38-calibre automatic carbine killed three men and left a bystander slightly wounded.

Stockard said the 31-year-old Negro had reached Burlington by bus. His mother and brother both live here.

Youth Unruly Fourth Night

TORONTO (UPI) — At least six persons were arrested Friday night as crowds estimated at more than 3,000 jammed Yorkville Avenue, the block-long centre of Toronto's Bohemia, in a fourth night of confrontation between youths and police.

Spanish Heir Soon

MADRID (AP) — A decree published here Friday renewed speculation that Gen. Francisco Franco is about to name an heir to the vacant Spanish throne.

The decree, setting out the etiquette for state ceremonies, places the heir to the crown second to the chief of state or his representative.

The first ceremony to which it would apply will come when Franco inaugurates a series of sanitary projects Monday.

"If a prince appears second to Franco in the protocol it will be obvious such a prince—in line with the decree—is the heir to fill the Spanish throne," said one political analyst.

Most frequently mentioned as Franco's choice is Prince Juan Carlos de Bourbon. The grandson of the last Spanish King, Alfonso XIII, he is married to Princess Sophie of Greece.

In line with the succession law of July, 1947, Franco has the right to propose to the Cortes (Parliament) the person he considers one day must be called in to replace him. Only if he dies without naming a successor would it be up to the Cortes to decide.

Here Comes Hanoi's Big Pitch

Strike Three for Saigon?

By JOHN T. WHEELER

SAIGON (AP) — The looming third battle for Saigon may well be the largest and most destructive of the Vietnam war, intelligence sources believe.

The communist command has massed elements of four divisions plus numerous independent battalions and regiments including artillery units around South Vietnam's capital.

Documents and prisoner interrogation indicate the communists believe a victory here would put overwhelming pressure on the United States at the Paris peace talks, paralyze the Saigon government and destroy support for the non-communist cause.

PROTECTOR

More than two divisions of American and Vietnamese troops have been assigned to protect the city and suburbs. Six more U.S. and Vietnamese divisions are deployed further afield around the city and there are reports of major reinforcements on the way.

But there is little hope that all the communist battalions could be kept out of the city. One U.S. estimate was that it would require nine divisions dug in around the city to seal it off. That many troops are not available unless the countryside is to be stripped.

At present it appears that the major threat is to the west of Saigon where there are perhaps 17,000 communist troops.

The figure for Saigon troops and allies remains the same. It is known that more than 20,000 U.S. combat troops make a wide circle around Saigon, together with 20,000 South Vietnamese regular troops. These figures do not include artillery units and support elements.

Three of the four South Vietnamese divisions around Saigon are considered among the least effective in the country.

Southern allied troops have been largely unsuccessful in tracking down the enemy units as they move into position, although weapons caches have been found.

More than 300 B-52 bomber raids have been made to try to break up enemy forces, but U.S. sources say many of the strikes are a day behind the actual positions of enemy troops—possibly because of security leaks.

FIRST ATTACK

The first attack on Saigon came in late January, during the lunar new year holiday, when there was supposed to be a ceasefire. This put some 4,000 enemy troops in the city and they were able to claim a psychological and propaganda victory.

The second wave was met on the fringe of Saigon May 5. Surprisingly Saigon's mood is far from one of crisis. There is no sign of panic buying. Work on home bunkers and sandbagging, begun at the height of rocket attacks, has all but halted.

Army, Police Placed on Alert

SAIGON (Reuters) — A special alert army and police was called Friday in this South Vietnamese capital after reports of a Viet Cong plan to attack and sabotage key buildings, including the American Embassy and the Presidential Palace.

Road blocks here erected after intelligence reports claimed 100 Viet Cong slipped secretly into the city. The guerrillas split into three groups in readiness for commando raids and may use mortars and rockets to disrupt government services, high-level police sources said.

An American soldier was shot and seriously wounded in a Saigon street by a Vietnamese youth described by police as a Viet Cong terrorist.

Ten alleged leaders of a clandestine group claiming to support the Viet Cong but to be separate from it were put on trial in their absence by a military court. They were sentenced to death for treason and advocating neutralism. The court also ordered that their property be confiscated.

They were executive members of the Vietnam Alliance of Nationalist, Democratic and Peaceful Forces and included Trinh Dinh Thao, a lawyer.

None was represented by counsel at the short hearing. In the ground war, a U.S. military spokesman reported Friday that U.S. marines killed 33 North Vietnamese soldiers near the so-called demilitarized zone.

Socred Upset Hopes Waning machine" employed by the Socreds. Mr. Pollen's opponents also made much of his campaign using pamphlets, a tabloid newspaper, and numbers of door knockers and telephone canvassers.

One Liberal campaign worker said Friday: "The government has failed totally to understand the attitude of Oak Bay. They're killing Peter Pollen the same way they did Charlie Enns in two past elections — by over-advertising."

The Liberals report a good response to their canvassing on behalf of Mr. Cox. Party officials said in the final stages of the campaign they are confident but determined to leave nothing to chance and therefore are making every effort to get voters out to the polls Monday.

Returning officer Kenneth Murphy was at the advance poll in Oak Bay municipal hall Friday when he was accosted by a woman voter who complained about the mass of advertising material from candidates. "It's a waste of money," she said. "I just read the first and tossed the

Other residents have voiced similar complaints and a few Socred telephone canvassers were reporting to party headquarters Friday that they were receiving a hostile reception in some homes. They were told to stop phoning.

"We probably have had some over-zealous door knockers," Mr. Pollen said. "But we've only sent out three pieces of literature. People seem to be very receptive to our canvass. I've been myself to more than 700 homes and generally speaking not more than 10 of them were belligerent."

"One little old lady in a rose garden refused to even speak to me. That's one that sticks in my mind."

Former Conservative MP George Chatterton, upset in the June 25 federal election in Esquimalt-Saanich, was also a speaker at the Peter Pollen rally. In the past week he has knocked on many doors in Oak Bay canvassing on behalf of Social Credit.

From the time the Oak Bay riding was created in the 1941 general election until 1952 when Social Credit came to power, it was held by Conservative Herbert Anscomb. Since 1952 it has always been Liberal, being held by former reeve Archie Gilha until his death in 1960 and since then by Mr. Macfarlane who resigned to accept an appointment as a Supreme Court judge.

Farm Loans Needed Now

REGINA (CP) — Agriculture ministers of nine provinces have suggested that the Federal Farm Improvement Loans Act be "reactivated and made operative immediately." They said farmers are short of cash and existing credit facilities are unsatisfactory.

Mr. Cox, who gained wide experience in regional affairs during his nine years on Oak Bay council, the last four as reeve, is prepared to give the government his due for doing a good job of developing the economy.

"What must be fought for, however, is a system of priorities so that it can be decided at all levels of government what must come first and how these things — new schools, hospitals, anti-pollution measures — can be financed," he said.

In North Vancouver the premier drew criticism when he announced, at a Socred rally last Monday night, that the government was prepared to make an outright $30,000,000 grant towards the cost of a new Burrard Inlet tunnel crossing provided the federal government matched it, and the structure was toll free. Initial reaction from Ottawa was negative.

North Shore Liberals, recalling the premier had made similar promises in three previous election campaigns in the past five years, were elated. MLA Barrie Clark said later "We're celebrating the fact that the premier has just handed us Monday's byelection on a plate."

The results of canvassing in North Vancouver Capilano seem to indicate this confidence is justified. The Liberal candidate is David Broussard, 42, an electrical engineer who runs his own heating supply and air conditioning firm which employs 60 people and has a branch in Victoria. His main opponent is another engineer, Socred Peter Robinson who claims to have the answer to air and water pollution problems in B.C.

Other candidates running there... only an outside chance are Conservatives Charles Maclean, New Democrat Sidney Simons and James Benyon, Communist.

In Revelstoke-Slocan there are three candidates, Mr. King for the NDP, Mr. Campbell for the Socreds, and Liberal Fred Delacourts.

Mr. King, a 38-year-old locomotive fireman from Revelstoke, is backed by the team of strategists headed by Michael Lewis, 23-year-old son of NDP deputy national leader David Lewis, which engineered the victory over Social Credit in Vancouver South. He also has the active help of Randolph Harding, newly elected MP for Kootenay West, who was MLA for the riding for 23 years until he resigned last May to run federally.

Mr. Campbell, 31, came within 138 votes of Mr. Harding in the 1966 provincial election, but party officials will only say this time he is going to be another close fight which could go either way.

More Tension Grips Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (LAT) — In an atmosphere of increasing tension, President Artur da Costa e Silva met for two hours Thursday with Brazil's national security council.

There had been widespread speculation that the president would yield to rightist pressures and declare a nationwide state of siege. But three hours after the session ended, a spokesman said no decisions had been taken.

Invitations Extended

Czechs Abruptly Change Attitude

PRAGUE (UPI) — Czechoslovakian leaders Friday invited their communist neighbors to visit Prague individually to discuss plans for a Soviet-proposed summit on Kremlin complaints and fears about the Czech democratization reforms.

A communique by the Czech Communist Party central committee president represented an abrupt about-face in official Prague attitude toward the Soviet proposal for a summit on Czechoslovakian reforms.

In Moscow, the Red Army Friday denied it was trying to exert military pressure on Czechoslovakia. But it failed to confirm that Russian troops would be withdrawn from the country.

The official Soviet Army newspaper Red Star blamed "western propaganda" with trying to present the Warsaw Treaty military manoeuvres in Czechoslovakia as an attempt by the Soviet Union to "impose its strategic concepts on its allies."

The Soviet troops, estimated by western sources in Prague to number 27,000 men, arrived in Czechoslovakia on Warsaw Pact manoeuvres at a time when Kremlin officials expressed concern about a liberalization drive there.

Enjoy the permanent beauty of a concrete driveway.

A concrete driveway is built to last... and last... and last. And to look good, year after year. Edges stay neat and trim. Surfaces don't rut, pit or pothole from gasoline, motor oil or constant vehicle traffic. It's easy to keep clean. Concrete offers you an infinite variety of surface textures, colours and patterns, with non-slip safety built right in. Concrete can be blended with different materials to create distinctive designs that enhance both house and landscape. And its light reflective qualities add to night lighting safety, too. It costs a little more to install, but over the years it is the most economical driveway you can own. Insist on a concrete driveway for your home... you'll never have to replace it. Contact your Ocean Cement representative today.

Russian Writers Defect

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Russian writer and his wife apparently have defected to the United States.

The state department said they arrived in this country June 27 and want to remain permanently.

Department press officer Robert McCloskey declined to say whether the couple — Arkady Belinkov and his wife Natalya — were seeking "political asylum" but told reporters: "You should assume that their wishes are to remain in the United States."

McCloskey said they were granted visitor visas by the U.S. consul general in Munich shortly before coming to the United States. McCloskey said their request for permanent residence was under consideration.

Students See Library

DUNCAN—AM. Bala Harder told his city council that a number of schoolchildren, with their teachers, have visited Duncan branch of the Vancouver Island regional library in June.

He said: "It is hoped more schoolchildren will visit the local library next term."

In June, the library circulated: 4,293 adult fiction books; 2,448 adult non-fiction; 1,577 paperbacks; 1,568 junior fiction; 256 junior non-fiction; 418 junior paperbacks and 296 magazines and pamphlets.

Port Alberni

Labor News Urged

PORT ALBERNI — Resolutions concerning labor relations, housing and ferry rates are to be presented at the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention by Port Alberni council.

The resolutions were proposed at this week's meeting by Ald. George McKnight.

The resolution on labor relations suggested that the municipalities' union should collect and assemble information for distribution to member groups.

The reason for the recommendation is because many city councils are limited in their background on problems involved and because the union is the only agency, to which all municipalities belong, which has the facilities to collect and distribute information, he said.

On housing, Mr. McKnight proposed a resolution urging the B.C. government, in co-operation with the municipalities, to launch development schemes with assistance to municipalities in sewer, water and road development.

It also urged a B.C. provincial housing corporation, similar to the one in Ontario, should be established.

Mr. McKnight recently returned from a visit to Ontario and has produced a 17-page brief on housing development in eastern Canada.

FARE CUTS

Mr. McKnight again suggested a resolution dealing with reduction of fares, especially for B.C. residents, on the B.C. ferry system, considered by many to be part of the highways system.

Council decided that one should be drafted, covering fare reductions by July 13, and presented to council for approval in time to meet the deadline for submission to the commission.

RISING COSTS

Ald. Charlie Blair suggested that in a period of constantly rising costs, pleas for a reduction might not be acceptable.

He thought the group should instead ask for improved service, with boats running later at night.

A similar resolution last year, which included a request for commuter fares, was unanimously approved, but no action has been taken yet by the provincial government.

Meeting Praised

NORTH COWICHAN—A joint meeting between the executive of the Union of B.C. Municipalities and municipal affairs officials was described by Mayor Donald Morton as "a major break-through in provincial-municipal relationships."

A joint committee will carry out a year's study of financial relationship between the municipal and the provincial governments.

Mayor Morton, who is first vice-president of the union, said: "We were very pleased with the wholehearted co-operation from the department of municipal affairs."

"It looks like the beginning of what we have been working for for the past 10 years."

Firemen Stung By Attic Bees

NORTHAMPTON, Mass. (UPI)—The flames and the smoke didn't bother the firemen nearly as much as the bees did.

No one was injured in a fire that badly damaged the attic and second floor of a three-family house but the attic was full of bees and several firemen were stung.

Indian Program

New Board To Help Fishermen

Appointments are to be announced shortly for a development board which the Indian affairs department hopes, will improve Indian fishing techniques in British Columbia.

Wolf Hunts Banned

All hunting of wolves on Vancouver Island has been banned by order of the provincial cabinet.

The measure is contained in regulations for the 1968-69 hunting season, approved by order-in-council Friday. A fish and game branch spokesman said the printed regulations will soon be available to the public.

Hunting of wolves in most other areas of the province is permitted year round, although in some game management areas the season runs only from September to March.

The new regulations approved Friday differ only slightly from those now in force, but include the following changes:

● The deer season on the northern end of Vancouver Island has been extended two weeks to mid-December.

● The hunting of elk in southern Vancouver Island is prohibited.

● In the areas to be flooded by the W. A. C. Bennett dam, the open season on bull moose has been extended to run from Aug. 3 to March 31, and on antlerless moose from Oct. 5 to March 31. The bag limit for moose in this area is set at two animals.

The five-man Indian Fishermen's Development Board is part of a $4,500,000 program to help improve techniques and equipment, said Indian Commissioner J. V. Boys.

The program, unveiled in May, will be conducted over the next five years.

LOANS PLAN

The development board will be made up of one representative of the Indian affairs branch, one from the department of fisheries, two Indian fishermen: representatives, and a person with extensive credit and banking experience, said Mr. Boys.

The program will provide loans and grants for the acquisition of newer, more efficient vessels and fishing gear, as well as for the reconstruction or conversion of some obsolete vessels.

The program will also help construction of marine railways, vessel repair centres, gear sheds and dry boat storage facilities at selected Indian villages to assist better repair and maintenance of vessels and gear.

MORE EFFICIENT

Training courses will be available to Indian fishermen so they can become more efficient in all phases of their fishing enterprises.

Although applications for assistance under the scheme will not be available until August, and the board is not expected to consider applications until this year's fishing season ends in October, some aspects of the program are already well under way, said Mr. Boys.

Mayor Accepts Tub Challenge

NANAIMO—Coquitlam Chamber of Commerce has sent a bathtub challenge to Mayor Frank Ney.

The chamber suggests he should fight the water duel with Coquitlam Mayor Jimmy Christman.

The challenge was received Thursday by Mayor Ney and was sent by Barry Bennett, commander of the Coquitlam Bathtub Navy.

The letter states that Mayor Christman is a "proud man and fond of racing of all kinds: that he has the fastest tub in the west and that he can wipe the seas of any competition."

The challenge is for Mayor Ney to "demonstrate his seamanship."

Asked about the challenge Friday, Mayor Ney said: "I am surprised any mayor in western Canada would challenge me in a bathtub race. I admit I have been beaten by other mayors in pre-bathing contests and sitting on the dangerous shores of Forbidden Plateau, however when it comes to true bathtub seamanship, I am confident that I can defeat, and thoroughly vanquish any mayor in western Canada, and prove conclusively and incontrovertibly that indeed, Nanaimo leads the world in bathtub technology."

"As sure as I'm a bathtub admiral I have no compunction in accepting Mayor Jimmy Christman's challenge, and will put up a battle of bathtubs for the winner."

Five planloads of spectators will be coming to Nanaimo from Coquitlam to watch the race.

NANAIMO — New curbs being constructed along Victoria Crescent will continue through the entire length of Commercial Street.

This was stated Friday by Ald. Ken Medland, streets committee chairman.

"We're rushing this part of our street improvement campaign and then we'll do a new paving job on Victoria Crescent and Commercial Street," he said.

"Merchants are now being petitioned to determine if they also want new sidewalks. They'll have to pay 50 per cent of the sidewalk cost."

"Nanaimo will also be unique because about 50 per cent of the downtown sidewalks will be colored."

"Merchants will be wanting a variety of colors and are showing a great deal of interest. We hope this project will be completed within a month."

The first phase of the street paving program has been completed. All gravel streets have now been paved.

The second phase calls for paved streets to be re-surfaced where necessary. Ald. Medland indicated this would be done on a priority basis.

This part is now concentrating on the re-paving of Irwin, Milson, and Gillespie Streets.

Gillespie Street will receive new curbs this week before paving commences.

Ald. Medland said that most of the new street program will be undertaken in Southern and downtown.

Mayor Frank Ney and city aldermen made a tour of Nanaimo's back alleys on Thursday.

Asked what the city was going to do about unsightly alleys, Ald. Medland said: "When the alleys get paved, people will, hopefully, take as much pride in their backyards as their front yards."

"After the alleys are paved the city cleaner can keep them clean. However, bramble bushes and other weeds not on city property must be cleaned up by the individual households."

There have been complaints that the Kinsmen pool at Bowen Park closes late in the afternoon, re-opening at 6:30 p.m., necessitating afternoon swimmers to pay again for an evening swim.

Ald. Medland said recreation was not his responsibility, but the city of Nanaimo is subsidizing the pool for the whole district.

"The regional district should pay their share for recreation in the city," he said.

Rockets Help Science Class

DUNCAN—Rockets streaked into the sky this week for the benefit of 11 boys and girls of the elementary Science for Fun summer class.

The demonstration, including the countdown, was conducted by Gary Oyen and Bob Moss, both 15.

Gary is the president of the Vancouver Island Rocketry Division and his friend Bob is electronics officer.

Scene of the launching was Duncan Airport, Glenora. The Science for Fun class is being run in conjunction with the Cowichan Valley summer school.

Bob's father, Bob Moss, who is director of elementary instruction, is in charge of the first two weeks of the class.

Instructor during the last two weeks will be Bud Fulton, Cowichan school district teacher, who will take the group on geological field trips.

First Paving Scheme Finished by Nanaimo

In Georgia Strait

Slippery Meter Lost

By DON COLLINS

Somewhere in the Georgian Strait is an $2,000 water current meter that has managed to give the Canadian Hydrographic Service in Victoria the slip.

Worse still, it made its getaway by using an elaborate system devised to safeguard it.

The meter, one of 14 being used in a survey of currents, through the strait, was attached to a 600-pound red float, and both were secured with two anchors.

In case of difficulty, the six-foot meter was armed with an automatic release gear.

"Apparently the automatic release gear released when it shouldn't have," survey officer Stanley Huggett explained Thursday.

As a result, the meter went missing with its float, which is described as 10 feet long and 22 inches in diameter. It bears the number 51 in white.

The hydrographic service said it was anchored 3½ miles due west of Ballenas Island Light during a survey that began last month.

Its disappearance was noticed in recent weeks and the service has conducted a search from Nanaimo north to Hornby Island and Point Atkinson north to Powell River, without success.

Yachtmen and boat operators have been asked to watch for the float, which should show about four inches above the water.

They have been asked not to try to pick it up, but to notify the service of its position.

It could take a year to replace the meter if it isn't found, Mr. Huggett said. He said the last 20, ordered by the service from a Montreal firm, took that long to build and deliver.

Library

School Work Ended

LAKE COWICHAN—The library at J. H. Boyd elementary school will be open in September. District librarian, Mrs. Ingrid Shelton, has told Lake Cowichan school board.

During her report, Mrs. Shelton said the recreational reading collection in the elementary district library has been increased.

She said that the total of 1,573 books were added during the 1967-68 school year. That brought the total number purchased for the collection to 5,228 books.

Mrs. Shelton said, "the recreational reading collection has been rotated three times during the 1967-68 school year."

BASIC TITLES

"Following the decision to deposit permanent reference and curriculum support collections in all elementary schools, basic titles were selected and multiple copies purchased."

"Emphasis was directed toward support of the social studies program. These collections will be re-organized in some schools to suit the need of the September enrolment."

Reporting on audio-visual aids, Mrs. Shelton said 22 filmstrips were added during the year. This meant there were 240 filmstrips in the district library.

PICTURE SETS

She said circulation for during the school year was 431 compared to 393 last year.

Eight picture sets and charts were added, making a total of 277. The circulation on those items also increased from 169 last year to 392.

Mrs. Shelton said last year the district library had only 16 phonograph records, but during the year, 35 more records were added, bringing the total to 51 records. Circulation almost doubled with 67 distributions compared to 34 last year.

On their heads," he said.

TEACHERS' LIBRARY

Other audio-visual aids now in the district library include: 10 models, three rock and mineral collections, 10 science kits, five maps and three language kits.

Mrs. Shelton reported 23 books had been added to the teachers' professional library, giving a total of 137. Circulation of professional books had increased a great deal.

The district library has three tape recorders including cassette type tape recorders, one listening post, two 16 mm film projectors, and one photocopier.

SPACE PROBLEM

Mrs. Shelton said: "Space limitations are hampering growth in the field of other resource materials such as new science equipment, tapes and film loops."

"Regular library instruction was given in all elementary schools, except Boyd primary school, which included the Dewey decimal system, parts of a book, the card catalogue, reference materials and book talks," she said.

Cottage Bid Too Low

DUNCAN—A bid of $110 for a student-built cottage is too low, Cowichan school board has decided.

Tenders were opened recently for sale of the building which was constructed by an occupational class at Mount Prevost junior secondary school during the year.

Trustee John Efford reported on the bid which the buildings and grounds committee had rejected.

He said: "Material cost of building the cottage was $82.34 and the only tender we received was for $210. It is the feeling on the committee that we re-advertise in September at which time we may get a more realistic bid."

Port Alberni Approves Land Purchase Offer

PORT ALBERNI — An offer from the school board to purchase a site from the city for the proposed junior secondary school has been accepted by Port Alberni council.

Three different sites have been discussed by the two groups. All were close proximity to Echo 67 Centre, with a view to more community use of all facilities, as suggested recently following studies by both educators and recreation boards.

The site, approved by council is immediately north of King's Court housing development, on the north side of King Street. It is next to the city parkland on which the community centre and pool are located.

Suggested price on the property is approximately $8,000 per acre, which will include services. A large area of property in that area is city-owned, and the school board will be free to purchase as many acres as it needs, said Ald. John Williamson, city representative on the parks and recreation commission.

Logging Camps

Rebel Strike Over

CAMPBELL RIVER — The 530 wildcat strikers at four northern Vancouver Island logging camps who walked off their jobs Thursday have returned to work.

The men, employed at Beaver Cove, Wask Lake, Nimpkish and Vernon Lake, stopped work because of the settlement reached between the IWA and Forest Industrial Relations Ltd., representing 114 coast employees.

The strikers said they were dissatisfied with terms of the settlement and they demanded the resignation of Jack Moore, IWA regional president.

Signing of the agreement, which gives 35-cent hourly wage increase over two years on a base rate of $2.75, was delayed over vacation clauses.

Peaceful Park

There are still plenty of spots on Vancouver Island where one can escape the rush of city life. This picture of Antler Lake, near Gold River, was taken on a hot afternoon, but there were no crowds to jar its peaceful atmosphere. Notices have recently been put up in the park area, identifying it, and showing where car park and picnic sites are.—(Betty Macmillan)

Only Chance to Avert Opposition Grand Slam

By IAN STREET

The rather slim hope of an upset win over the Liberals in Oak Bay appears to be the best prospect for Social Credit to avert a grand slam by the opposition in three provincial by-elections, to be held Monday.

Socred candidate Peter Pollen, a strong early runner in the local contest, seems to have lost ground in the past few days. The reason appears to be in the adverse reaction among some residents to what they see as a government attempt to "pressure" them into supporting Social Credit. Liberal Allan Cox, a former reeve of the municipality, is favored to retain the seat formerly held by Alan Macfarlane for the Liberals. He has run a quiet campaign stressing a voter canvass and personal endorsement letters.

In North Vancouver Caplan's seat formerly held by Ray Perrault who resigned as provincial leader of the Liberal party and beat T. C. Douglas to win election to the Commons June 25, Liberal

Liberal Cox

David Brousson seems likely to finish on top in a field of five.

It is the Interior riding of Revelstoke-Slocan, formerly held by the NDP, however, where party leaders are spending most of their time during the latter stages of the campaign. Premier Bennett campaigned there Thursday and Friday and NDP leader Robert Strachan has spent the past week in the riding. Liberal leadership aspirant Dr. Patrick McGeer has also spent some time campaigning there although it's strictly a two-way fight between Social Credit and the NDP.

Socred candidate Burton Campbell, a Castlegar newspaperman, who twice before came close to upsetting NDP veteran Randolph Harding in this riding is running against newcomer William King for the New Democrats.

There are indications that Mr. King, despite his political inexperience, should win by a fair margin.

lost a total of four by-elections this spring and summer. On May 21 it lost the key riding of Vancouver South to the NDP.

All three of the present by-elections are in opposition ridings—Oak Bay and North Vancouver were Liberal, and Revelstoke NDP—and Mr. Bennett has said in the past he would be satisfied to come out of this series with one victory. He would like Revelstoke-Slocan because that would mean revenge for the NDP victory in Vancouver South. But at a pinch, any riding would do.

Mr. Bennett's personal involvement in these by-election campaigns may turn out to be a mixed blessing for the Socreds. He was the main speaker at a rally attended by more than 600 in Oak Bay junior high school. His speech caused little excitement though Mr. Pollen was warmly applauded.

Liberals countered with criticism of what Mr. Cox called "the big green

Trudeau Chides Unions:

Don't Squeeze Lemon—It's Public's

- Postal solution sought Monday, Page 16.
- B.C. welfare cheques mailed early, Page 14.
- Talks resume on seaway dispute, Page 16.

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Friday that unions in the public sector are in effect bargaining with the public, especially the poor and unorganized part of the public.

He said at a news conference that some unions say in bargaining with the government: "Squeeze as much as we can from the lemon."

INFERENCE

Mr. Trudeau said these remarks were not directed specifically at the striking St. Lawrence Seaway workers or the postal workers, who are threatening to strike. It was important that the public, including unions, be made to realize the difference between strikes in government service and those in the private sector. There was a limit to the wage increases private companies could grant. A private company could go broke, but the government never did.

INFLATION GUARD

The government in some cases, however, had to look at the overall economic picture and prevent starting an inflationary trend.

Wage parity with the U.S. by some Canadian unions meant transfer of resources to one particular group.

"Parity begins at home," Mr. Trudeau said.

He added that he hoped he did not sound too reactionary on the subject of unions.

Mr. Trudeau made these points:

- The government's drug bill, designed to lower prices of prescription drugs, will be reintroduced in Parliament.
- A wage increase for the postal workers was "conceivable."
- Parliament could be called into special session as early as July 26 or 27 but such a move was "purely hypothetical" as of now.
- He would go "very far" to enforce the rule of cabinet secrecy and solidarity, but ministers would be encouraged to speak for their own departments.
- He hoped to meet industry and labor in August on government plans for legislation creating a wages and prices review board.
- He planned a 10-day holiday beginning July 22 or 23 if things were "rosy." If Parliament had to be reconvened, he would leave on holiday earlier. He might visit some parts of the Canadian North.
- He will attend the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference in January. There were no plans to meet President Johnson soon.

The program was ordered under the Public Service Rearrangement and Transfer of Duties Act through orders-in-council issued by the cabinet. New legislation will be required for far-reaching changes in the names of new departments. New departments: communications; regional development; industry, trade and commerce.

Ottawa Hint Disturbs Nationalists

TAIPEI (Reuters) — China News, an English-language newspaper published in this Nationalist Chinese capital, predicts Canada's Prime Minister Trudeau will recognize the mainland Chinese regime based in Peking.

It says a Canadian delegate to recognize Peking would not be the end of the world but "still Canadian recognition is a free-Chinese reverse that should be prevented if that is humanly possible."

No Jobs Lost

Federal Shuffle Outlined

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau announced Friday a wholesale shuffle of federal agencies among government departments.

The move was part of a previously disclosed plan to create five new departments, each headed by a cabinet minister, and rebuild others.

Trudeau said a new conference that "task forces" will be established to implement the changes, which could be followed by others as time goes on.

CABINET ORDER

The program was ordered under the Public Service Rearrangement and Transfer of Duties Act through orders-in-council issued by the cabinet. New legislation will be required for far-reaching changes in the names of new departments.

Plane Hijacker Told 'Wrong Thing to Do'

MIAMI (UPI) — A sobbing, babbling hijacker pulled a gun on Sen. James Eastland of Mississippi Friday night in an attempt to force a Delta jetliner to Havana, but a steel-nerved flight engineer convinced him it was "the wrong thing to do."

Delta flight 977, with 48 passengers and a crew of six, landed at Miami International Airport after a two-hour drama in the skies.

In Washington, D.C., FBI director J. Edgar Hoover identified the man as Oran Daniel Richards, 33, of

Sniping Suspect Surrenders

BURLINGTON, N.C. (CP) — A man identified by police as the gunman who shot three men to death on a street in New York City's Bronx area Thursday night, surrendered to a sheriff's deputy here Friday.

Sheriff John Stockard said Robert L. Rogers, alias Robert Pugh, was unarmed and accompanied by his brother.

Rogers had been the subject of a manhunt since a hail of

Grits Capture Comox-Alberni

PORT ALBERNI—Liberal Richard Durante has won the Comox-Alberni seat by nine votes over Tom Barnett, NDP, who has represented the riding for a total of 11 years.

It is the first time a Liberal has ever represented the constituency. Mr. Durante gained 11,939, Mr. Barnett 11,930.

The surprise result followed a judicial recount by County Court Judge Harry McKay of Nanaimo. The unofficial count after the June 25 election put Mr. Barnett 53 votes ahead of his Liberal rival. When the official count was held recently his margin was reduced to three.

The recount started Thursday and the result was announced at about 9:30 p.m. Friday. Mr. Barnett immediately conceded defeat.

Mr. Barnett, 58, said he personally was disappointed, but was more disappointed that the NDP had lost a seat. He said the recount had been conducted impeccably by Judge McKay.

There were a number of spoiled ballots, but the figure was not immediately available.

LIBERALS HAVE 153

The recount result gives the Liberals 153 seats in the Commons, and cuts the NDP strength to 22. The Conservatives have 72, Creditists, 14, and the non-partisan Speaker.

Judge McKay arranged the recount so that an NDP representative counted and checked the Liberal votes and a Liberal did the same to the NDP votes. A Liberal and an NDP representative checked the votes of the other candidates who were not present.

Newly-elected member for Nanaimo riding Colin Cameron, NDP, was present as an official representative for Mr. Barnett. They both stayed for the whole of the recount.

BEFORE BALLOTTING

Mr. Barnett said he felt that those involved in the recount left the section of the act specifying a lead pencil should be changed because "that was written before the ballot paper."

Mr. Durante is on holiday in Vancouver and could not be reached after the recount.

His campaign manager, Ron Hess, who said earlier it would be a very close fight, commented: "It has been a long hard climb but I am very happy we made it to the top."

FIRST ELECTED IN '33

Mr. Barnett was first elected in 1953. He was defeated by H. C. McQuillan, Conservative, in 1958, but was returned to the House in 1962 and 1965. In 1965 he had a plurality of 6,326 over four opponents.

From 1921 to 1953 the seat was held by independents. A. W. Neill being the longest serving.

IWA Aftermath

Dissidents Map Dump-Moore Bid

- Rebel strikers back at work, Page 33.

By DON COLLINS

There is a move underway to dump forest union boss Jack Moore.

Less than 48 hours after he cast the deciding vote for a tentative settlement affecting 26,000 to 28,000 workers, there was talk of finding a "good replacement."

The plan is to pit someone against him when the International Woodworkers of America regional conference is held at Vancouver in September.

Mr. Moore has been the IWA's regional president in B.C. for six years.

Two of the more powerful IWA officers in the province have been mentioned as possible contenders when it comes time for nominations.

Only one, Weldon Jubenville of Lake Cowichan, has admitted that he might have his eye on the job.

Mr. Jubenville, who heads the 4,000-member IWA local at Duncan, said Friday night: "I'll put it this way — if Thompson doesn't stand, maybe I will."

The reference was to Syd Thompson, president of the largest IWA local in B.C.—the 7,000 strong Vancouver local.

Mr. Thompson would not say whether he wanted the top job personally, but declared: "There is one thing for certain — Jack Moore has got to go. He'll be opposed."

He said he expected some qualified union officer would stand for election.

Mr. Jubenville and Mr. Thompson, members of the IWA negotiating committee, were among those expressing bitter disagreement with the settlement.

The package which will be voted on by the forest workers before the end of the month offers 36 cents an hour over two years on top of a basic rate of $2.76. But it lacks the vacation improvements the union had sought.

Targets for the resentment of those who dissented have been Mr. Moore and Victoria local president Murray Drew, who passed the motion to accept the offer.

Mr. Jubenville said Mr. Drew violated the union constitution by threatening to sign a separate agreement for his local if the others didn't accept.

Mr. Drew said in Victoria Friday night that members of his 1,800-man local appeared happy with the settlement.

The Victoria local will vote on the agreement at the curling rink Sunday. Other locals will vote later, most of them on the job site.

Saanich Honors First Freemen

They Put Average Man at Ease

By DON GAIN

Former Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes were welcomed home to Saanich Friday night in a formal ceremony marking their installation as the first freemen of the municipality.

Saanich council chamber overflowed with warm regard and good humor as upwards of 175 guests joined Mayor Hugh Curtis and eight aldermen in honoring them.

A guard of honor of 10 policemen stood at attention at the entrance of the building as Mayor Curtis and Mrs. Curtis, accompanied by Police Chief W. A. Pearson and Inspector Robert Peterson, welcomed the guests of honor. Before entering the council chamber, Maj.-Gen. Pearkes inspected the guard in the company of its commander, Sgt. Herbert Clarke.

"Dear Mother: Was awarded the Victoria Cross. Love, George."

He lauded Gen. Pearkes' concern as an MP "that a better route should be found for the new Trans-Canada Highway. He expressed particular concern with the fact that the proposed new route would still run through the bottleneck of the Parsons Bridge area."

Other projects undertaken by the former MP were additional assistance for the blind, improvement in veterans' legislation, special air freight arrangements for Vancouver Island dairies and grants in lieu of taxes for Esquimalt municipality.

Mayor Curtis spoke of the "general air of friendly informality that characterized your years in the viceregal home."

He congratulated the couple on successfully avoiding "the stigma of officialdom—a pre-occupation with those only in high places."

"The ability to make average men and women feel comfortably at ease in your midst is, and has been, an outstanding quality."

The mayor's speech ended on a humorous note. He said that, during his years as chief magistrate of Saanich, he had heard not a single complaint from Gen. Pearkes concerning taxes or the efficiency of various municipal services and personnel.

Point Settled

"You have, however, on several occasions made specific and fairly strong reference to one minor source of annoyance."

"Tonight, and without in any way infringing upon the excellent idea of Mayor Stephen and Victoria Council with respect to city parks crews undertaking a small project in your garden, I would like to settle this one long-standing point of disagreement between us. The roadside boulevard at the corner of Tattersall and Maplewood will be attended to very shortly."

Sidney-North Saanich Dispute

Fire Budget Adds New Fuel

By NANCY BROWN

A fire budget approved by Sidney council has been ruled out of order by North Saanich council.

The move adds to the friction already existing between the two councils over the volunteer fire department which is under the control of North Saanich but which serves both areas.

Sidney is already seeking ways and means of legally getting a share of the assets of the fire department to which they contribute annually through taxes.

WELCOME, IF

North Saanich Mayor J. R. Cumming says Sidney is welcome to a share in the assets—and the liabilities—if they will come up with a concrete proposal.

Mayor Cumming said Friday that Sidney had approved a necessary fire department budget for three months ago, and then turned around two weeks ago to approve an alternative budget which commits the fire department to the hiring of a paid fire chief.

NO SAY

Ald. Trevor Davis of North Saanich added that Sidney has no say in policy matters as all assets and liabilities of the department are owned by North Saanich.

"We try to co-operate with Sidney by keeping them informed and asking their approval, but actually they have to go along with us unless they want to set up their own fire-fighting arrangement," said Mr. Davis.

OVERSTEPPED

Mayor Cumming said the joint fire committee had overstepped its authority in re-submitting an already defeated budget, which would mean a change of authority.

Mayor Cumming said that three months ago he and Sidney Mayor A. W. Freeman had agreed to a half mill increase—amounting to more than $6,000—for the purchase of equipment for the fire department which serves the two areas.

SOUGHT INCREASE

"The joint fire committee had originally asked for a mill increase and the hiring of the paid fire chief," said Mr. Cumming.

"We decided against the fire chief, and sent the budget back to be revised to the half mill increase."

LATTER APPROVED

This latter budget was the one approved by Sidney council.

"Sidney has acted in this without full consideration," said Mayor Cumming.

"You can't hire a man for six months and then drop him. It has to be a permanent post or none at all," he said.

"This is a policy decision which has never been reached. Appointment of a fire chief would be a municipal affair, and would have to be advertised for open competition with obvious complications."

In approving the budget which includes the fire chief Sidney was allowing the committee to dictate rather than administer policy.

Elk Lake Race Called Off

Saanich's Elk Lake swimming races planned for Sunday have been cancelled because of lack of entries. Ald. Leslie Passmore announced Friday.

"We've had lots of inquiries but only three applications," Mr. Passmore said.

Museum Settled

Flooring Strike May Expand

The small strike that has postponed the official opening of the $8,000,000 provincial museum is over, but it could be replaced next week by a new strike affecting construction sites throughout Greater Victoria.

This will depend on the outcome of a meeting Monday of contractors, the floorlayers local of the carpenters union, and a provincial government mediator Jack Sherlock.

"There will either be settlement or a complete breakdown," said John Schibli, business agent for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters in Victoria.

TO AUG. 16

Meanwhile, Recreation Minister Kenneth Kiernan announced Friday that the official opening of the museum had been postponed from July 19 to Aug. 16.

More than 600 invitations bearing the July 19 date had already been sent out to dignitaries.

The week-long strike against one contractor, Hourigan's Carpets and Lino Ltd., slowed finishing work on the new building to the point that opening ceremonies had to be put off.

NO BARGAINING

Unlike other flooring contractors, Hourigan's did not allow the Victoria branch of the Amalgamated Construction Association to bargain for it, Mr. Schibli said.

Strike notice of 48 hours had been served on all the flooring contractors concerned, but when the others asked a delay for a mediation meeting it was granted.

Hourigan's was not included. The strike action ended, Mr. Schibli said, when the firm gave bargaining and signing rights to ACA.

The last contract with Local 527 and the contractors expired March 31. Talks broke down some time ago. Members of the local, earning $3.55 hourly, want parity with counterparts in Vancouver who make $3.90.

Milk Price Holds Line

Victoria dairy officials said Friday they were unaware of any increases in milk prices planned for Greater Victoria, following an announcement of Vancouver companies that milk would cost two cents more a quart.

The Vancouver decision was made public just hours after 800 dairy employees approved a new two-year contract giving them hourly pay increases ranging from 46 to 59 cents.

Dairyland, the largest of the three Vancouver companies involved, said out notices Friday that the price increase goes into effect Monday.

Teens Planning School Dance

The Oak Bay Youth Community will hold a beachcomber dance at 8 p.m. July 19 in Oak Bay senior high school. Members of SPOT, Saanich Police Organization Teens, are invited to the dance.

Roll Called

The ceremony took the form of a special meeting of council. Municipal clerk Gordon Hayward called the council roll and each member rose as his name was called.

Oanon Grahame Baker of St. John's Anglican Church, president of the Greater Victoria Council of Churches, opened the meeting with a prayer.

Ald. Edith Gunning reread her motion of June 17 in which she moved that Mrs. Pearkes be made the first freeman of Saanich. Ald. William Campbell again seconded the motion.

In speaking to the motion, Mrs. Gunning mentioned the "great charm and warmth" of the former chateleine of Government House and her good works "too numerous to mention."

First to Sign

Mrs. Pearkes placed her signature, the first, in what Mayor Curtis said would be an historic book, the Saanich roll of freedom.

Ald. Leslie Passmore reread his motion of June 17 naming Gen. Pearkes a freeman. Ald. Harold Todd again seconded the motion. In both cases the motions were unanimously passed by standing votes.

Ald. Passmore said the honor was a demonstrative acknowledgement of the respect and esteem in which Gen. Pearkes is held in his home municipality. The former lieutenant-governor was the second to sign the roll of freedom as a freeman.

Mayor Curtis called the ceremony unique—"for it is what baseball people would call a double-header. Tonight we pay tribute to you both."

Contribution

It was the first time such an event had taken place in the 62-year history of the municipality, he said.

"There can be no doubt, Mrs. Pearkes, that you have made a vital contribution to your husband's successful and varied career. At Government House especially, your warm and friendly personality has made the Pearkes' years there an outstanding period in this history of vice-regal representation."

The mayor recalled newspaper and other reports of Gen. Pearkes' career. An item in the Victoria Times of Dec. 24, 1917, reported that "Mrs. L. Pearkes of Mount Tolmie has heard from an independent source in England, that her son, Major George Randolph Pearkes, MC, has been recommended for the Victoria Cross."

As an example of Gen. Pearkes' modesty, Mayor Curtis read the brief communication Mrs. Pearkes received from her son. It read

World Champion Logger Coming

Sooke Titles on Line Today

Canadian champion logger Brian Herlihy of Sooke will have a rough time defending his title against American competition at All-Sooke Day, today.

Among top contenders for the title will be the world champion all-round logger Mervin Lentz, of Crestwell, Oregon, fresh from his recent win at Albany.

Bob Weibel of Sweet Home, Oregon, will also be seeking to regain the title he won at Sooke two years ago.

Hap Johnson, of Forks, Wash., 16 times world champion tree climber, and John Miller of Roseburg, Oregon, could also go home with the title.

There are a record number of entries—46 in this year's events—all of them for Canadian championship titles.

Most exciting event will be a loggers' pentathlon for regional competition. A team from Sooke will challenge teams from Oregon and Squamish areas in an event that will finish with a dive into the burling pond.

Sooke's Ardiel Wichstein will be trying again to keep the burling trophy in the family, "but," says his brother Jubiel, "there's a lot of fresh new talent coming up, and the Wichsteins aren't indestructible."

World champion speed climber Dwight Carpenter will have seven competitors—two of them from his home town of Castle Rock—in his race to the top of a 50-foot spar tree.

The big community picnic will begin at 10:30 a.m. with a parade and official opening of the new Sooke Road bridge. Children's races will start at 1 p.m. and an hour-long program of novice logging competitions at 1:30 p.m.

The big men of the logging world will start their championship logging events with the standing block chop at 2:30 p.m. and aggregate points from the 10 events will determine the Canadian all-around champion.

Cox Hits Sacred Policies

'Fairy Tale' Report Rapped

By DIANE JANOWSKI

Liberal candidate Allan Cox last night attacked the Social Credit government's education policy for causing "a very confusing situation."

"The premier's latest fairy-tale financial report brags about the expenditure of huge sums on education, but according to the unbiased non-political Canadian Tax Foundation, British Columbia ranks seventh among provinces with respect to provincial aid to education."

"It seems actually strange to me that since our province is so rich we have situations like those caused by the government's attitude toward approving such things as an expenditure of absolutely essential school money which has already been passed more than a year ago by the property-owners of this area," he said.

"But according to the premier, the province had an enormous surplus last year. If he doesn't want to reduce the rate of provincial taxation, why doesn't he make this money available to local governments so they can carry out the programs the province has made their responsibility?" he asked.

The former Oak Bay reeve told an audience of approximately 50 at Henderson Hall the government's "confusing" philosophy could also be applied to other aspects such as hospitals and pollution control.

"We've had these problems for years already and we'll still have them until there are understandings between the different levels of government. I've never before seen any very practical."

He did, however, say the municipality must be given new sources of revenue besides the property tax.

ALL LEGISLATURE

In reply to a question about Bill 32, Mr. Cox said strikes in vital industries could not be allowed to cripple the province's economy, but he would have preferred the entire legislature to decide when to apply the bill instead of only the cabinet behind closed doors.

"Surely all members of the legislature would be willing to co-operate on matters as important as this," he said.

"Anyway, when you are a member of the board of directors of MacMillan Bloedel sitting on the campaign platform of a Social Credit candidate, you have to ask yourself exactly how impartial the government can be."

BONNER AT RALLY

Robert Bonner, former attorney-general who recently resigned his government post to join the MacMillan Bloedel board, appeared last week at a rally supporting the Oak Bay Social Credit candidate.

When asked what he thought of the theory whereby property is taxed for services to property and people taxed for services to people, Mr. Cox said "It's a very good theory, but it's not very practical."

He suggested the pre-Social Credit method of providing revenue whereby the municipalities received one-third of the sales tax and of the motor licence fees in addition to property tax.
